Former Tryon Rotary Exchange Youth In The "Big Time"

Amber Marlowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Marlowe formerly of Columbus, represented the Tryon Rotary Club in the summer of 1986 as the Exchange Youth selected to visit Pirmasens, Germany. In the August 6 issue of "PEOPLE" magazine, page 101, is a picture of Amber who, according to the accompanying article is competing for the honor of representing Lucille Ball in an upcoming CBS movie. Quite a resemblance, what! Tryon Rotary is understandably proud of the many achievements of other of the 30 Rotary Exchange Youths — both the American and the German. — Rotary Reporter

New School Groundbreaking Set

The official groundbreaking for the new Polk County Consolidated High School has been set for August 20 at 6:30 p.m. on the high school site.

The groundbreaking was set Monday after the Polk County Board of Education voted unanimously to award the site development contract to Perry Alexander Construction Co. of Asheville.

The bid award, recommended by both GMK Associates management firm and school building architect John Cort, included site development bids and an alternate bid for 760 feet of unpaved roadway from NC 108 to the northeast corner of the baseball field for a total of $653,920.

Without the alternate bid for the roadway, Dillingham Construction of Asheville was the low bidder for site development only, but the school board agreed that the roadway is necessary for crowded sports events and maintenance access. Perry Alexander Construction was second low bidder for site development at $629,650 and low bidder for the roadway at $24,270.

The only local company bidding, Henson's Building Construction, was second overall low bidder by only $130. School board chairman Georgia Pack said that the board preferred a local company, but that to re-bid the project would raise the cost considerably due to rising fuel
