Erin Corcoran, a Tryon Middle School student, was among 17 area students who qualified in this year's Duke University Talented Identification Program. Her name was misspelled in an article last Thursday.

Harvest Sale Planned At Congregational

This year's Harvest Sale at Tryon Congregational Church will be Thursday, Nov. 1.

Co-chairmen Rosemary Pleune and Sybil Strider report that "International Cuisine" is back this year, with frozen entrees in single, double and family size servings. More edible temptations will be Soup du Jour, the Bakery and the jams, jellies and pickles booth.

Minnesota wild rice and Louisiana popcorn rice are also being sold.

Jewelry and collectibles will be found in the Fellowship Hall. On the lower level are Basement Treasures, and the Nearly New Boutique, offering some designer labels and other exciting clothing 'finds.'

New this year in Personal Creations are decorated sweatshirts, to put some zing into those trips to the post office. Colorful padded snapshot frames are also new, plus pacemat and coaster sets, aprons, pillows, hand-knits and much more.

And in the CongreCrafters display of wooden creations, don't miss the enchanting cats, among other useful and amusing items.

The Silent Auction offers a Lowry Chord organ to bid on, plus women's golf clubs and bag, wool afghans, a bridge luncheon, a gourmet dinner, handmade jewelry and several antiques.

Sale hours are from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Plenty of parking is available and lunch will be served next door at Holy Cross Church.

Tickets for the house tour, "A Doll's Christmas," also will be available.
