Reward Offered For Missing Shar-Pei

Linda Schatzberg has offered a reward for a missing Shar-Pei puppy which she believes was stolen from her Hunting Country farm.

One puppy was found to be missing earlier this week from the special room in her barn where she was raising a number of puppies.

"I am offering a sizeable reward," she said. "No questions asked. It can't be worth to these people what it is worth to me."

Schatzberg said this particular puppy would not nurse its mother at birth, and that she had saved its life by hand-feeding it once each hour for the last three weeks.

"It is like they removed one of my children," she said, "and I want it back."

Schatzberg's farm was also victimized in the recent rash of saddle thefts. She said the two don't compare.

"Saddles can be replaced," she said.
