Pug Newcomer is back in Osceola - that's Nebraska - which about this time of year should be one beautiful place to be - cool, Canadian breezes and people who talk funny to hang out with.

Pug lives in Columbus part of the year, but goes back to Osceola each spring before the South Carolina mosquitos hatch.

He's been pretty impressed with a local elementary school principal. This guy, Allen Brozovsky (that's a fairly common last name up there, by the way) challenged his students to read books. If they read enough, he said, he'd kiss a pig.

Well, guess what. That old Nebraska passtime - pig kissin' - came to pass. Don't worry. It was sanitary. Both the principal and the pig wore hats.

Congregational Church Observes Ministry Sunday

Ministry Sunday was observed at the Congregational Church on June 2, another of the special events in connection with the church's year-long Centennial observance.

During the service the church honored its Minister Emeritus, the Rev. Richard Jackson, for the 50th Anniversary of his ordination in 1941. Mr. Jackson served as minister of the congregation from 1973 to 1983. Although retired, he and his wife, Dorothy, are still active members. A certificate in recognition of that anniversary was presented by Mrs. Marge Woody, the church's Senior Deacon. Following the service, during a reception hosted by the Board of Deacons, an original poem was read by Skip Morse, and a gift was presented accompanied by a humorous picture by Mrs. Kitty Eriksen.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Rollin Russell, the Conference Minister of the Southern Conference of the United Church of Christ.

A listing of clergy who have been related to the church during the past century was distributed, as was a booklet with sermons by 15 ministers who have been associated with the church during the past half century.

Other participants in the service included the Rev. Dr.
