The weather Thursday: high 83, low 69, hum. 65 percent, and by 7 a.m. Friday .14 inches of rain had fallen.

We had a debate going on Friday morning about the tree, located between the post office and NCNB bank in Tryon, that's scheduled to be cut down soon. Whether hickory or oak, it is dying.

Robert Dedmond says its been a hickory for the last half century. Others say there's no way its a hickory.

Everyone says, "Call, John." And because that's what everyone usually does, our county extension director was tied up at presstime, so the mystery continues.

We also had a discussion with some Lake Lanier residents about the continuing concerns regarding the height of boat houses.

Last year, when Tryon first stepped into the fray and decided to regulate construction over the water, it was lake property owners, not lake residents, who opposed limiting the height of boat houses.

Most lake residents want the height restricted, so that no

Blood Drive

Bart Greene, director of the Spartanburg Blood Bank, will climb into a cherry picker's bucket and be hoisted aloft Thursday.

He'll stay there until 350 blood donors visit the blood bank offices below, at 175 Dunbar Street, sometime between 7:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

"I hope I'll be down by 3 or 4 p.m.," he said. "But we've never had that many donors."

Each year at this time, the blood bank holds a drive to promote donations and to promote awareness of the need to keep up blood supplies during the summer.

During summer, donations slump, while travel, yard work and the like increase trauma cases and drain the supplies of blood, Greene said.

Landrum Special Meeting Tonight

The Landrum City Council has called a special meeting tonight to discuss water lines and water rates.

The council will have the second reading on an ordinance to alter the zoning map regarding the property of Nelle B. Lee on North Shamrock Avenue.

The fire department budget and the water tank at the filter plant also will be discussed.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Landrum City Hall.

Clarification

The Polk County property transfers as recorded in the tax supervisor's office list only the first name in cases where there are several grantors or grantees.

In the case of one property transfer printed in the Bulletin June 18, only one name was listed. The full list of grantees on the deed read as follows:

Malessia O. Bradley, 24.375 acres in Columbus Township, to Wayne H. Bradley, Earnell R. Bradley, Lefty L. Bradley, Darrell K. Bradley, and Malcolm J. Bradley, as tenants in common.

Ladies Golf

Because of a heavy downpour at noon on Thurs., June 20, the grandmother's tournament was rescheduled for July 11. Thurs., June 27 will be the member-guest, a shot gun event at 9:15 a.m.
