Hey, got fleas in your flop from that mangy old dog or cat? Get a pig!

"They don't get fleas. They don't bark. They don't scratch your curtains. They're so intelligent that... at home, they ring a bell to go out and go potty," according to a recent story in the Omaha (Neb.) World-Herald sent to us by Pug Newcomer.

Pug lives in Columbus part of the year, returning summers to his native Polk County, Nebraska.

"...Just so you can be up-to-date on the profitable "pig-pet" market in Nebraska and the USA at large," Newcomer wrote. "Despite some low-land flooding in recent weeks, this Polk County is poised to again enjoy excellent yields in corn, milo and soy-beans.

"Harriett and I certainly enjoy receiving the Daily Bulletin. Reading it makes us all the more eager for October and our return to the Polk County of our adoption since 1983."

One Woman Art Show

Mary Walker of Johns Island, S.C., will have a solo exhibition at the Tryon Fine Arts Center starting Sunday, August 4. Mary and her mother had a show together at the Tryon Fine Arts Center in 1979. Mary's parents lived in Tryon and she grew up here. Her mother, Cynthia Maroney, lives near the TFAC.

Mary has exhibited in many shows in South Carolina throughout her career. She is a graduate of Queens College, Charlotte, N.C., with a B.A. degree in mathematics. She was a math teacher from 1968-75. In 1975 she became a full-time artist. At present she is represented by the David Hamilton Gallery in Charleston, S.C.

There will be a reception honoring Mary at the TFAC on August 4 from 3 to 5 p.m. Lavina McDaniel is chairman of the reception with Gloria Hampton as co-chairman. The public is invited to the art show and reception.

Americans spend less than 5% of their health care dollars on health promotion and disease prevention. Maintaining good health is much more cost effective than treating poor health.

Good sources of fiber in the diet include fruits, vegetables and whole grain breads and cereals. Diets high in fiber may reduce the risk of colon cancer.

Mr. & Mrs. Stanley Blomeley

71st Wedding Anniversary

Stanley and Ursalene Blomeley, members of the Tryon Seventh-day Adventist Church, celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary on June 19.

The Blomeleys have three sons, 12 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. The third member of their household at present is "Doc", their 33 year old parrot.

The Blomeleys would love hearing from old friends. Their mailing address is P.O. Box 311, Columbus, N.C. 28722.

Safe In A Storm?

Make sure your child knows the safest place to go in case of a severe weather warning. This information is particularly important for latchkey kids who are on their own while parents are at work.

Communication

Dear Jeff:

A letter in Tuesday's Bulletin about the Tryon Youth Center Production of Grease had some interesting comments. I too witnessed the dress rehearsal on Wednesday. I thank God daily that my kids who grew up during that era were not a problem to me. They rebelled as all kids do. They weren't perfect by any stretch of the imagination. They didn't go the drug route. They drank some and smoked and swore. Although they were never caught, I'm not sure that they didn't experiment with sex.

All these things were portrayed on stage and I didn't like it. I told my wife that I was glad that none of my children were in the cast. However, this might be because I was looking into the mirror of years past. During my school years everything that the actors did on stage, or talked about on stage, was done (except drugs).

My views on the show itself... we should use their actions and words to help us improve our children's attitudes. What was gained by swearing, drinking, taking drugs, smoking or experimenting with sex? I felt for the prim and proper girl and the way she was treated. My heart went out to the one who thought she was pregnant. Both of them needed a parent who could counsel and guide them. Of course I could commiserate
