The barbershop singers put on quite a show in Tryon Saturday night, we hear.

First, they entertained the patrons while dining at The Village Restaurant Saturday evening. Then, the show at the Tryon Fine Arts Center was a success, with fine singing and plenty of humor.

When the crowd got ready to leave for home, the clouds burst wide open, so the singers extended the show in the lobby, while others reportedly ushered people to their cars under a big umbrella.

Moved Inside

Due to the heavy rain, the second and last of the season's street dances was moved into the school gymnasium.

About 250 people enjoyed and danced to the music of the McMinn Band. Square dances were performed by the Saluda Locomotions.

Organizers Kathy Littleton and Jeff Phillips have been pleased with the support which provided great entertainment for young and old people. Any monies raised after paying the cost of the band will be given to community organizations.

Gem Display At Lanier Library

The Lanier Library is currently featuring a display of gems, stones and crystals, part of the collection of Mrs. Austin Woody of Tryon. "M.L.," as friends call her, says she is not really a professional collector but just enjoys the different varieties, colors and even some of the names of stones and crystals. She likes to go to gem shows and particularly recommends the upcoming Mineral and Gem Festival which will take place in Spruce Pine July 31 to August 4.

In the colorful exhibit shown at the library are Herkimer "diamonds," Geodes, a Petoskey stone from Lake Michigan, and a sampling of "fools gold." There is a beautiful piece of rose quartz, and a fascinating inch-square block of lead. There is a peculiar mustard colored "Orpiment" stone which catches the eye. In one corner of the showcase are a handful of stones, unmarked. Name them and we'll give you a prize!
