The weather Tuesday, high 84, low 54, hum. 66 percent.

Did you know that if Judge Clarence Thomas is confirmed at the age of 43, and serves the length of time served by retiring 83-year-old Judge Thurgood Marshall, he will serve on the Supreme Court for 40 years? That's the equivalent of 10 presidential terms, and makes Thomas potentially much more important to United States history than any one president. The Senate Judiciary Committee members made a number of interesting observations Tuesday in their opening statements at the Thomas confirmation hearings.

What's happening:

There will be another training session for the Stream Watch program tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the FENCE pond.

Trade Street Gallery and Photo Graphia will present an exhibition of rugs, tapestries and paintings by Ronald Keith Mosseller at Photo Graphia Sept. 14 to Oct. 10. An opening reception will be held during Tryon's Gallery Stroll Saturday from 6 to 8 p.m. For the stroll, the Upstairs Artspace will

Landrum Voters May Choose Council/Manager Structure

Landrum voters will have a chance to change the form of Landrum Town Government in November, but they won't have the choice to expand the number of councilmen.

The Landrum Town Council Tuesday gave unanimous approval to the second and final reading of an ordinance calling for a referendum on the November ballot to change from the Council Form of government to the Council/Manager form.

However, the council voted down 3-2 a second reading of an ordinance to present a referendum expanding the council members from four to six.

"Frankly I see no benefit of a six-member council," said Mayor Robert H. Cogdell.

Cogdell also said that there is no room in city hall for more council members, the expansion would cause another election, and this would be a costly project with no apparent benefits.

"Like you said at the last meeting, let the people decide," said councilman Fred Williams.

There are advantages to a six-member council, said councilman Doug Brannon. There will be more than one person over a department and councilmen will have to work together more, he pointed out.

"If the people don't want it

Anniversary Service Sun. at Congregational

The Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) on Melrose Avenue in Tryon will celebrate its Centennial on Sept. 15 with a special Anniversary Sunday service at 11 a.m.

The sermon during that service will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Paul Sherry, the President of the United Church of Christ. The congregational singing will include the Centennial Hymn, written for the church's anniversary by Dr. Stephen Clement and the Minister of Music, Joseph A. Erwin. The Choir will sing Mr. Erwin's anthem A Prayer for Vision. The Rev. Dr. Rollin Russell, the Minister of Southern Conference, United Church of Christ, will bring greetings
