Landrum To Vote Two Referendums

Landrum voters will be busy at the polls Tuesday.

Landrum voters will fill two Town Council seats and four District One School Board seats. They also will decide two referendum questions.

Voters have a choice of either keeping their Council/Mayor form of government, or replacing it with a Council/Manager form which would turn the day to day operations over to a town manager.

Landrum voters will also choose whether to expand the present four-member city council to six members, or to remain at four.

Six candidates are vying for the four District One Board of Education seats.

Incumbents Cliff Walden (current board chairman and a 20-year board member), Randy Craig (a former chairman and an eight-year board member), and Judy Bradley (a one-term, four-year board member) will be on the ballot.

Newcomers Phil Mosley and Henry Lord, of Campobello, and Mike Ravan, of Inman, will also be on the ballot.

The Landrum City Council race pits two male incumbents against two female newcomers for two City Council seats.

Incumbents Fred Williams, a one-term, four year council member, and Doug Brannon, a four-month, specially-elected

Man Arrested After Receiving Marijuana In U.S. Mail Package

Lee Douglas Kujawa, 38, of Columbus was arrested by Polk County Sheriff's deputies recently after receiving a half ounce of marijuana in the mail.

Chief Deputy Calvin Atkins said Kujawa was charged with simple possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Atkins said postal officials at the Columbus Post Office became suspicious of packages arriving for Kujawa on a regular basis. The Polk County Sheriff's Department called in Rutherford County Corporal Sam Williams, who handles the drug sniffing dog, Gator.

A group of five packages were set out for Gator, who picked out the package to Kujawa, Atkins said.

When Kujawa picked up his package, deputies questioned him and he admitted that the package contained marijuana, Atkins said.
