If you call columnist Dave Barry's house in Miami, we understand from Newsweek you'll reach his recording machine with the following message: "You've reached the Mario Cuomo for President headquarters. At the tone leave a message.... or maybe you better not... well, go ahead... no, you probably shouldn't..."

What's happening:

Bids are now being accepted on pottery from Little Mountain Pottery in a silent auction at the Polk County Library. The proceeds will enable the library to purchase books and equipment.

The board members of the Foothills Humane Society will meet today at 4 p.m. in the NCNB meeting room.

The Polk County Board of Commissioners will meet today at 3 p.m. A vote on the sign ordinance is scheduled. At 6 p.m. a public hearing on the Polk County firearms safety ordinance will be held.

The Tryon Town Council will meet tonight at 7 at the Town Hall.

Discovery House Expo Is Dec. 20

On Friday, December 20, in the Mural Room of the Tryon Fine Arts Center, Discovery House will present its Christmas Expo, a student music recital.

As a culmination of the fall semester which began in September, the students of Pam McNeil Thompson, Betty Van Buskirk, Lynda Terrell, Colleen May Fowler, and Mary Delaney will perform a variety of selections on the piano, violin, and flute.

The Expo will begin at 7:00 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend at no charge.
Refreshments will be served after the performance.

Discovery House of the Arts, Inc., is a non-profit, tax-exempt arts center for young people which does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, or ethnic origin.

Located at 115 Walnut Street in Tryon, and sponsored in part by the North Carolina Arts Council, Discovery House offers year-round instruction in music, dance, drama and art.
The fifteen-member working board of directors represents the greater Polk County area.

For information about the December 20 Music Expo and also about the winter semester slated to begin on January 6, 1992, please call Discovery
House at 859-7691.
