Dale Edwards, Polk County Supervisor of Elections, said the opening of the filing period for candidates for county and state offices has been postponed to Feb. 10 at noon. Filing was to begin this week.

The delay in filing is due to continuing problems with state redistricting efforts, Edwards said. The new filing period will be from Feb. 10 to March 2.

In other county news, County Manager John Lewis said some county residents are confused about the county's intention to hire an assistant county manager. The position, although not titled "assistant county manager", already exists. It was filled by Rob Moehler, who left Jan. 1.

The new assistant county manager will handle the same jobs as Moehler - planning and zoning, economic development
- as well as some new duties.
The position title and pay was

St. Luke's Radiologist Leaving Hospital Staff

On Friday, Dec. 27, Richard R. Gentry, MD announced to hospital administration and trustees his intention to terminate his practice of Radiology at St. Luke's Hospital effective May 1, 1992. Dr. Gentry will be joining the group of radiologists at Bristol Regional Medical Center in Bristol, Tenn.

"My decision to pursue a career elsewhere is the direct result of pressures arising from changes in the Medicare program coupled with the uniquely high percentage of Medicare patients in this area," said Dr.
Gentry.

Medicare's new Resource-Based Relative Value System (RBRVS) has been in effect for radiologists over the past year, and will be effective for all physicians beginning Jan. 1, 1992. "Under this new system, Dr. Gentry's specialty will experience one of the most significant reductions in reimbursement from Medicare," said Tom Bradshaw, hospital president.

St. Luke's Hospital already has begun aggressively seeking radiologists to continue providing high quality services at the hospital. Several radiology groups are interested in serving St. Luke's Hospital, said Bradshaw. "While we will miss Rick Gentry and his family in this community, radiology services

And All That Jazz

In response to numerous requests for an evening of jazz, the Tryon Fine Arts Center will present the N.C. Jazz Ensemble on Saturday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m.

The band was organized 12 years ago by Oliver Hodges, bass player, and Stanley Baird, saxophonist. Most of the musicians are instrumental teachers in universities and high schools and have had extensive training and experience in jazz ensembles of various sizes.

The 17-member band will bring back memories of the dancin' 40's when we all twirled and dipped to the tunes of the god old solid big bands. Vocalist Melva Houston, recently returned to her home in Mr.
Airy after a successful European career, will enthrall the audience with her energy and style.

The Special Events Committee of TFAC is sponsoring this event. Tickets are $10 and will be available at the box office beginning Jan. 9th from 10-2 until showtime.

Peace Center At Tryon Rotary

Now in its second season, the Peace Center for the Performing Arts in Greenville, S.C. provides a unique source of entertainment for all of us in this area of the country.

Here to tell us about this innovative institution and its present theme of, "Season Second to None," will be Gary Ault, director of marketing, advertising and public relations for the Center. This will be the regular noon meeting at Tryon Holy Cross Church, Monday,
Jan. 13.

Mr. Ault, a native of Cincinnati, has spent his business career in the field of advertising and sales promotion. Prior to his affiliation with the Peace Center he was the reorganizer and manager of the Greenville spectacular, Freedom Weekend Aloft.

Buys Boat House

Thomas A. Ballantyne III has purchased Mr. and Mrs. Doug Brannon's boat house in Lake House's first basin, for the use of his sisters, Marsha, Jean and Amy, who bought a house on Jervey Road and plan to move to Tryon within the next five years.

Tom is a former resident of Tryon, now living in Incline Village, Nevada.

Earl Thompson of Coldwell Banker Town & Country, Realtors was both listing and selling agent for this transaction.
