Financial Aid Workshop Thursday

A financial aid workshop will be held in the Landrum High School Library on Thurs., Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. All students and their parents are invited to attend. The purpose of this workshop is to help all students and parents learn about ways to finance the student's college education. Financial aid officers from the University of SC at Spartanburg, Wofford College, Spartanburg Methodist College, and Spartanburg Technical College will present a program on financial aid. The reps will talk about financial aid, in general, but will be available to talk with parents individually. The public is invited.

American Legion Holds Contest

Polk County Memorial Post 250 held its annual Oratorical Contest at Polk Central and it was won by Anthony Womack for the second time. He will be competing in the District Contest later this month.

Those of us who witnessed Anthony's presentation both this year and last are amazed at the growth in both delivery and content of his talk. Hopefully this year he will reach a higher spot by winning the Divisional title and be able to compete in the States Department Contest which will be held in Lenior on Feb. 29th.

Video Series At Tryon Presbyterian

The Tryon Presbyterian Church is having a viewing of a video series on Luke. The tapes have been prepared by James A. Sanders, a noted theological historian who is president of the Ancient Biblical Manuscript Center for the preservation and research of Biblical material. He is also a professor of inter-testamental and Bible studies at Charemont School of Theology.

The tapes are shown on Sundays at 9:45 a.m. in the persimmon room of the church. The Presbyterian Church would like to share and to give the opportunity to view this program with all who are interested. There are six tapes remaining in this series.

Once the tapes are shown to the video group, they will then be available to the public at no charge through the church office.
