Back to the polls: Are you ready to go back to the polls Republicans? We don't mean next November. Republicans have another primary vote Tuesday to decide the run-off between candidates for state Superintendent of Public Instruction Teena S. Little and Vernon Robinson. The winner will face incumbent superintendent, Democrat Bob Etheridge, in November.

Money can't buy love: But it can buy a few new guns for the Columbus Police Department.

Thanks to alert police work on the part of Columbus Police Officer Chris Abril in April 1991, the Drug Enforcement Administration presented the Columbus Police with a check for $21,300 Thursday.

The money represents 85% of the cash seized when Abril arrested a drug dealer at the Days Inn Motel in Columbus.

Columbus Police Chief Billy Steppe said, in accordance with federal laws regarding seized money, he plans to set the cash aside for such things new bullet proof vests, new weapons, overtime pay for drug

Girl Scout Lake Property Not Sold, But Off Limits

The Girl Scout Lake property at Lake Lanier will not be sold at this time, the directors of the Pisgah Girl Scout Council decided Wednesday. But no one can use the camp.

After a two-hour, forty-five-minute executive session, the Pisgah Council directors voted to throw out the long range plan which called for selling the property.

However, the directors ruled that no one can use Camp Littlefield at Lake Lanier until further safety studies can be made for liability reasons, reported Campbell.

"The board will try to make a decision in July. Until that time, there will be no use of the property," said Linda Rogers, executive director of the Pisgah Council.

Because the water in front of the dock at Camp Littlefield, which is in the third basin of Lake Lanier, is heavy with boaters, the council has been concerned about canoeing safety.

A group of ten Polk County Girl Scout leaders and administrators presented a proposal to improve the safety, a way to keep records of safety, an easier way of registering for use of the Lake Lanier camp (which will take less than the month they say it now takes), and ways to improve communication
