D.A. Must Rehash Crime in Marr Trial

District Attorney Alan Leonard must prove all over again in Polk County Superior Court this week that a crime was committed in order to link Daniel Marr to charges of accessory before the fact stemming from the 1990 murder of Paul Acker.

Tuesday Leonard called to the stand four State Bureau of Investigation (SBI) agents who gave testimony that tied Marr's nephew, Jimmy Jaynes, and co-defendant Shane Smith to the murder scene that night in October 1990. Even though Jaynes has already been convicted of murdering Acker, Leonard must prove to this jury that a crime was in fact committed before he can link Marr to the case.

Smith is free on bond pending his trial on charges of murder, arson and first degree burglary.

Just after the lunch break Tuesday, Defense Attorney Mark Powell made a motion that he be supplied with the original handwritten notes taken by former SBI agent Tom Pruitt when he questioned Shane Smith after his arrest.

Later in the afternoon Ruby Smith was called to the stand and testified that after the arrest of her son Shane Smith, she received a phone call from Susie Marr, Jaynes' aunt and Daniel Marr's wife. Ms.
Marr advised Ruby Smith to look under her living room couch for a .22 calibre rifle used
