Single Member Districts Referendum To Be On Nov. Ballot

No compromises were met by the majority group of Landrum City Council Tuesday night when a final reading was given to an ordinance calling for a Nov. 1992 referendum on single member districts and a Nov. 1993 election of two additional council members.

A motion to amend the ordinance by changing the date of the election of the additional council members to Nov. 1992 to coincide with the referendum on single member districts failed in the usual 3-2 vote. Doug Brannon introduced the amendment motion, which was seconded by Fred Williams and voted down by Mayor Robert Cogdell, Hollis Constance and Ray Mayfield.

"In the May meeting Mr. Robertson (Donald Robertson, Pres. of the Landrum Chap. of the NAACP) asked why you were in a rush to elect two additional councilmen and you said there was no rush and you agreed to the Nov. 1993 date," Mayor Cogdell said to Brannon. "Okay, then change the referendum to Nov. 1993," Brannon answered.

Brannon explained that the two additional council members could still run from the added districts 5 and 6 to assure that a minority would be elected. Then these minority council members would be on board to pave the way, campaign and

St. Luke's Hospital President Resigns

St. Luke's Hospital President Thomas A. Bradshaw has submitted his resignation effective Sept. 1, to accept another position in Augusta, Ga.

Bradshaw's resignation comes on the heels of a Medical Staff Executive Committee meeting which voted Tuesday to release a resolution presented May 20 to the Board of Trustees stating lack of confidence in the administration. (See adjoining article.)

That resolution was presented during an executive session of the regular May Trustees meeting. At that time the St. Luke's Trustees appointed an Oversight Committee to look into problems addressed in the resolution.

During a specially called June 27 meeting, the Oversight Committee recommended that "the President of St. Luke's Hospital remain in his present position, and we further recommend that future relationships with the medical staff be objective, free from any personal differences and forthright." In a secret ballot vote, the Board of Trustees accepted this and other recommendations of the Oversight Committee. However, that vote was ruled invalid because N.C. law does not allow a secret ballot vote.

The members of the St. Luke's Medical Staff met in a special meeting June 30 to unani-
