Corross.—The general tone of the cotton trade during the west now closed, has been tame and subdued. The sales were confined for the most part to the immediate wants of the trade, and as holders felt wither desirous of realiting prices might be said to have receded aligntly from the rates just quoted. We may remark that the accounts brought by the Cambris, which arrived here on Tuesday last, do not appear to have had any offset worthy of notice. Although it would appear that the period for low purchasing at the transmittentic ports had passed away at least for the present. Sales confined for most part to the immediate wants of the trade, prices have slightly receded from last rates. The quantitons are: Mobile Pair, 44; New Orieans 41, The stock of Cotten in
