PHILADELPHIA MARKET.

nt, the minds of both burges and sellers were in state of suppense, in the expectation of further in ol-ligence from al road Planters were becoming guite extravagant in their pretentions, building very sanguine hopes on the undoubted deficiency of the crop, and the satisfictory news from abroad received a not being so favorable as was anticipated, they be April 21, 1849. A. PAUL REPITON, See. gin to be more moderate in their expectations, and purchases will no doubt soon be effected with rather more ease. Many of them continue, however, to be extremely firm in their opinions as to the prices they will obtain for their crops; and seem resolved to retire during temporary periods of depression, and to wait until the great shortness of our supplies this ear, becomes duly appreciated in foreign markets. We place our quotations as follows: Middling to fine Whites, 101 a Ili rials ; choice Whites, 12 a 13rs. superior floretes, 131 a 14 ra. ; Yellow, 7 a 8 rials Browns, 54 a 61 rials; Cacurachos, 44 a 51 rials. Muscovadoes are rather easier, and we quote middling 5 a 54 rs., and bettter kinds 6 a 64 rs. There is no improvement whatever as regards the prospect for the yield of the crop, which will shew a deficiency of one-third and probably more. The drought has continued unabated, and there has been an almost entire absence of the occasional showers. which are so desirable for aiding the operations on the Sugar estates, for the nurture of the young cane, and for vegetation in general. In some important districts not a drop of rain has fallen for many onths ; and strong fears are entertained that unless there is soon a salutary change in the atmosphere, a serious injury will be inflicted on the cane in process of growth for the crop succeeding the present one .-The exports so far during this month from hence and Matanzas are very small, amounting to less than 40,000 boxes, against 127,000 boxes during the whole of April, 1848.

" Molasses is lower, 2 and 21 rs. having been accepted in the harbor. This was submitted to, however, with the condition of immediate delivery, in order to relieve the tanks, and the principal dealers are asking higher rates.

"The supplies of coffee are moderate, and sales are made at $11 a 51 for middling to good. Of prime little or nothing comes forward.

" Seven cargoes of Rice, amounting to 1,846 casks nave been sold, three at 9 rinks, two at 91 and two at 91 rials ; one cargo was despatched to New-Orleans, and three came in, of which one is included among the sales. Our present stock in first hands consists of 700 casks in store and 600 casks afloat, but dealers are of course very plentifully supplied, and some more cargoes are known to be on the way. There was besides a sale of 700 bags Valencia of fine qual-
