It is a very neat sheet, under the editorial management of ningtion. Mr. McDanizz is well qualified for such a position, both by talent and character.

THE GOLDSBORO' PATRIOT.

The Goldsbord Patriot is again under the editorist charge of Mr. WILLIAM ROBINSON, who will be essisted in the publication of his paper by Mr. John ROBINSON.

THE POISONING CASE.

We have conversed with a gentleman who was present at the time the death of Mr. SIMPSON OCshades of the human character.

Mr. W. O. JEFFREYS is the gentleman to whom we allude. He says : "that a personal acquaintance with most of the Physicians who made the post mortem examination, as well as the coroner and gentlemen who composed the jury of inquest, fully authorises him to say, that their high character for respectability and intelligence, and as good citizens, forscreen the guilty, or recognise any such distinction ways. More hereafter. - Ashville Messenger. in classes of the community, on which to base their action, as that charged by the informant of the Commercial." He further says, "that in his intercourse with the community of Fayetteville, after the transaction, he saw no disposition manifested to charge the Physicians or others with neglect in the discharge of the duties which devolved upon them."

This statement will afford no little surprise to those who derived the previous information from the same source with the Editor of the Commercial, and who, with him, conceived it to come in an unquestionable and authentic shape.

The conclusion is inevitable, however, that although the process of arriving at a decision by the Jury wes slow, there was no criminal delay on their part, or on that of any other person.

We assure the readers of the Commercial, that in the present instance we perform the most pleasant part of our duty in this poinful case-but they will ground we are determined to take in all cases of this nature-cases that we hope may never occur. We may observe, also, that the position we then took relative to the notions of certain small portions of society, simost everywhere in this republic, is not receded from. We still maintain its truthfulness, and still stand in hostility to its atrocity.

Pair of the South Carolina Institute. The Charleston Mercury, of Thursday, says the the visiters to the Fair of the South Carolina Institute. The variety and perfection of the specimens of southern skill in the different branches of the manufactures and the arts, were in the highest degree creditable, and in many instances they would compare most favorably with similar articles from any quarter, at home or abroad.

The same paper says there were some specimens of another art exhibited, not contemplated in the programme of arrangements-the art of picking pockets, by which a number of gentlemen were relieved of a portion of their surplus funnds.

METHODIST CHURCH PROPERTY.

There may be some misunderstanding in relation to the decision of Judge Scott, in the case of the Methodist Church property. The property placed in the hands of trustees belonged to the large Methodist Church in the District of Alexandria, Virg., and had no relation to the property in dispute between the whole Church North and South.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA-SLAVERY.

It is said that an attempt will be made at the ensuing session of Congress to abolish clavery in the District of Columbia. Such a step, at this time, will be calculated to excite very bitter feelings in the South, because it will be a most gratuitous and wanton insult. California has decided the question for itself. The same will be the case in New Mexicoand no possible reason for stirring the question can be given.

We think the duty of the South is to treat any proposition of the sort with a cool and determined resistance. Excitement, giving rise to bragging, threats, and other kinds of quattlebumery, will but weaken the force of that graver sentiment that must arise in our midst, should slavery be indeed abolished in the District. The single act of abolition in this respect, will do more to sever the cords of the Union, than all the meetings, conventions, and resolves, that can be got up between this and doomsday. Undue axcitement will defeat the purposes of shose who honestly desire to vindicate Southern sights, and can only answer the temporary purposes of President making - for which, indeed, it is chief-

ODD FELLOWS AND PRESBYTERIANS. The fulli statement of the action of the Synod of Cincinnati upon the appeal of a member who had been suspended by the Presbytery of Cincinnuti for belonging to the Order of Odd Fellows, puts rather a different face upon the first rough report. The deleion was as follows:

1. That the appeal be sustained; inasmuch as the ower court has not furnished evidence before this body, that the mere fact of holding membership in the Society of Old Fellows, forms a Scriptural round of exclusion from the Church of Christ.

2. That In sustaining this appeal, the Synod is not to be understood as approving of the Order of Odd Fellows, or of any other of the "Secret Societies." On the contrary, it is the deliberate opinion of this body, in view of the religious feature of these associations, which are not in accordance with the Gogpel, and which consequently gives offence to many Christians, mar the peace of the Church, and tend to impuir the Christian usefulness of such professorsthat the members of the church connected with them, should prayerfully and deliborately consider this whole subject, and separate themselves from preading, as steps have been taken to prevent it, by

CENTRAL RAIL ROAD.

This great enterprise is now out of the reach of a failure, and we confidently hope and predict that it is but the harbinger to a road from this terminus to the mountains, through Ashville, to Knoxville, Tennessee. FATAL ACCIDENT.

We have been pemitted to copy (says the Federal Union) the following extract from a letter, received by a gentleman now in Milledgeville. It is another fearful warning of the danger of committing fire arms to children :

TROUPVILLE, Lowndes Co., Nov. 10. An accident occured y steruny, which casts a gloom over every face. Some of the neighbors met at the house of Seaborn Jones (Allen Jone's brother to go a driving-his son William, a boy perhaps 9 or 10 years old, was fixing to go with the company. and was told by his father to see if his gun would fire. The boy went out in the yard and attempted to fire the gun. It was londed with two buckshot and some small shot. The gun flashed - he took the gun from his face and was about to put fresh priming in the pan, when the gun fire ', and being pointed in the direction of Scaborne Jones, the whole load went into him, entering on the tight side, a little below the nipple and one shot entering the left side of the breast, opposite the heart. He did not live five minutes, and never spoke. Thus, by letting this child handle and use a gun, a most worthy citizen has lost his life by the hands of his own child!

SUICIDE OF AN AMERICAN MERCHANT .-- A few days sirce an inquest was hold by Mr. H. M. Wakley, at the Ashby Castle, Upper Ashby-street, Clerkenwell, on view of the body of Mr James Miller, aged 47. The deceased, who was possessed of considerable property, had offices in the city, but resided at 5, Northampton square. Miss Balton, a young lady residing in the same house, deposed that about 20 minutes past 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon the decessed rung his bedroom bell, and requested her to assist him in opening a bottle which he held in his hand, containing prussic seid. He then poured out half a wine glass of the deadly mixture and drank it off, exclaiming, a few moments previously, "The instant I take this I shall be a dead man." Witness endeavored to prevent him, but despite her entreates he swallowed the poison and expired in a few minutes. It appeared from the joint evidence of Dr. Key, of Hoxton who had formerly attended deceased, Mr. Burroughs, and George Harris, clerk cessary, and that such a one in less than ten years, in deceased's office, that he had suffered from gour will be built, and that if our own citizens do not do and erysipilus, though when in good health he was that foreigners will and that if we do not they ought. a most cheerful and jocular person. > From the Charleston Courier. FROM BERMUDA.

By the Br. ketch Peri, arived yesterday, in 11 days from Bermuda, we received a copy of the Humilion Bermudian of the 7th just.

The Trinidadian of 3d ult., contains a detail of a riot that occurred there on the previous Monday, which resulted in the loss of some lives. It appears that the Legislative Council introduced into an ordinance, a clause subjecting debtors to the same prison discipline as criminals, which much excited the populace. A meeting of the inhabitants was called, and resolutions passed requesting its repeal, after which, the crowd proceeded to the Council Chamber, filling it to inconvenience. Policemen 110 bbls. Ros.n, 12 bbls. Spirits Turpentine. were required to make room, which was resisted by the people. A rumor getting abroad that the Council would not repeal the clause, a shower of stones came through the windows, causing the members to retreat. They again assembled, repealed the clause, G. W. Turbulent persons, however, created a riot, the military were called out, and finally orders given to fire, when three women and one lad fell; the latter and one of the NEW YORK .-former subsequently died. Through the interference of the Governor, the riot was finally quelled.
