SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Legislature of South Carolina assembled at Columbia on Monday week, and the Message of Gov. MEANS was defivered on the day following.

In the exordium the Governor earnestly requests that the Legislature will join him in rendering heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for the many and undeserved mercies recei-ven during the past year. He says a terrible the only basis on which I was authorized to for the many and undeserved mercies receiblow to the prosperity of the State has been struck'by the destruction of crops and bridges on the water courses. The different institutions of Learning are flourishing. The Military Academy gives evidence of increased usefulness, but there is a want of interest in Free Schools. The Bank of the State is in a highly prosperous condition. The Lunatic Asylum is conducted with admirable order. The South Carolina Institute, established for the encouragement of all the in-large additional improvements.

In regard to the Convention authorized by the Act of the last Legislature, and the action of South Carolina, He says that there was an almost "tiniversal feeling of indignation at our wrongs, and a burning desire to redress them prevailed. But discord and that our safety has not yet been secured .to burst upon us, is still brewing. The great feature of the Compromise, which indiced our sister Southern States to accept it, has been open Violated. In one of the Northern States, the Fugitive Slave Law has been nullified; and in all the others it is but a dead letter. A brutal murger of a slaveholder has been the result of an attempt to reclaim a slave under this vaunted law. The spirit of mischief is working with fearful energy. Agitation still goes on with ceaseless activity. Every element which can be made to advertisements are payable at the time of insertion.

LARLIER DAYS.

Larry element which can be made to operate on public opinion is put in action against our institutions. Even that powerful weapon, the literature of the country, is employed to direct its polished but poisoned shafts against them. It is true that nothing has been done by Congress, since your last Session, against which we can complain—

Judging, however, from the elements which are at work, and from the history of the past we cannot hope that this cessation from hostile acts against our institutions will be of long duration. Amid all our prosperity, and the still greater prosperity which we would enjoy if left alone, the heart sickens at the contemplation of that fierce fanaticism which is at work, and which hangs like a pall upon And woos the happy moments spent and follows on their track;
The vanished joys gleam bright anew with all their wonted glee,
Yet burst and disappear again like bubbles on the sea.

Is at work, and which hangs like a pair upon our future. However strong may be my convictions as to the propriety bl' an attempt to stay the coming storm by the separate action of the State; and however deeply I may deployed the decision to which our people have come upon this subject. God forbid that I should fan into a flame the expiring embers of party strife, by now recommending it to you. Our destiny, for weal or for wee, is connected with the whole South. Further Gay girls disported with light hearts, upon the aggressions (which will surely come) will convince our Southern States that the institution upon which not only the prosperity of the South, but Republicanism itself depends, is uo longer safe in the Union. Then we may hope that they will rise in the majesty of their strength and spirit, and. in conjunction with us, either force our rights to be respected in the Union, or take our place as a Southern Confederacy amongst the nations

In the meantime, let us unite, heart and hand, in carrying out those great schemes of internal improvement, by-which the wealth and resources of our State will be developed. and thus give it all the power and strength of which it is capable.

From the Raleigh Standard, Nov. 24. RALEIGH AND GASTON ROAD. The Report of W. W. Vass, Esq., President of 'the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road while in charge of the State, communicated to the present Assembly, is before us. This document is brief, and creditable to the President, and to those who, under his direction, And often in the dim twilight when tranquil is contributed for so many months to keep this work in operation on so slender a foundation and with such small means.

We'regret that we lack space to present the Report entire, but we make room for the following extract in relation to the purchase of a certain quantity of iron for the Road under a Resolution of the last Assembly;

"For reasons above given, the Road, with the strictest economy, and the most indefatigable exertions on the part of all concerned, has not been able to maintain itself, defraying its current and necessary expenses, and realize a sufficient surplus to pay for the iron purchased in February. 1851. Indeed, it over to the Democratic policy, took a part in alluded to is known to your Board. In my report of November 29, 1850, and which was submitted to the Legislature then in session. the fact was stated that the Road would have to stop operations at once, unless some 2 or 3 hundred tons of light iron could be immediately procured and laid upon the track. To prevent the alternative indicated, and, with the laudable view of keeping up the road as long as the convenience and necessities of the public seemed to demand, the Legislature, on the eye of its final adjournment, passed a Resolution authorizing your Board to make the necessary purchase of iron, if i could be made by pledging the proceeds of the road for the payment. It has so happened, that the receipts of the road, as before indicated, have not been sufficient to meet its current, necessary expenses,

> From the New York Tribune POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY.

The Bangor Mercury asks: "Will The Tribune remember that all of supported Gen. Scott fairly and honestly? -Well, we wouldn't like to state the case quite so bluntly, but admit, for argument's sake, that the above is quite correct-don't The Mercury see that "all of the Whig party that is worth anything', isn't strong enough to elect a President?-that it must truckle and cringe to the guerillas who a'n't worth anything for help to carry an election or let it go against them? If that is the only alternative, we are at present inclined to let go. But we speak for ourselves only, and may see cause to change our mind hereafter.' Just now, however, we choose to rest awhile.

-The Mercury goes on to say that "By the insolence of Northern and Southern politicians arather than submit to which it would have been better that the Convention of June 16 had dissolved without a nomination -Gen. Scott was driven into the canvass with a dead weight upon him. He could not have been done by anything short their platform, and were crushed as we deof a miracle. The history of the purchase served to be, beneath the weight of the plunder we stole."

> -Well: do you see a prospect for doing better hereaster? Are we not likely to repeat the blunders of the late canvass ?- and with a like result? If so, wouldn't it be better to do just nothing? It is Pope, we think.

"Tis better, sure, to sit than rise to fall."

The Mercury is honest and speaks plainly. He is one of these who go for puriging the Whig party of the pro-slavery dectrine .-And now, as the mists are clearing away, will the Whig presses of North Carolina look into the matter, and when they view the influences which nominated Scott by The Resolution of the Assembly, a copy of clear daylight, will they do justice to the anti-Scott Whigs ?! Oh, how hard it is for poor human nature to confess an error. The whole matter could be embraced in a few words, and said with the utmost good nature: "Well, well; after all we see you were right and we were deceived."
