Deltas Hold Founders Day

The members of the Delta Omega Chapter of Tau Gamma Delta Sorority and their families, observed its first Founders Day Program in honor of its Founders, at the Western Sizzling Steak House on Sunday, October 24, 1976. The sorority, a sisterhood of business and professional women was organized by eight women in Detroit, Michigan in 1942.

"All women must have a source for progress and that source is God. God should be our Leader; and if he is, you can have Involvement; if you have leadership and Involvement, you will have Unity. Leader, Involvement and Unity is this year's national theme for the sorority.

Mrs. Virginia Alston, National 2nd Vice President of the sorority and vice president of the Lambda Chapter in Durham, N.C. was the Founder's Day speaker. Mrs. Alston is married to Hodgesty Alston and has two children. Her son, Jackie, a graduate student at North Carolina A&T was also present. She is owner and director of a Day Care center in Durham.

Mrs. Alston spoke on "Women's Role In A Changing Society". She said, "Women are satisfied with their domestic role, while professional women, want more; equal rights, equal pay and their own identity. Women have also included contributions made by famous black women in politics, art and in the local community. In the future, Mrs. Alston said,
