

'Dear Liz'

Is My Lover Gay

Dear Liz:

While abroad I met the most interesting man. We've only known each other for 2 months. Within that period, he has not touched me affectionately nor made advances. He's a flashy dresser and has more male friends than female. Of course I wonder if he's straight.

-Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:

Perhaps your friend values your relationship strictly on a friendship type basis and not on an intimate note. As far as not making advances, perhaps he's just being a gentleman.

As far as clothing is concerned with the recent year trend in unisex clothes being stylish this is no cause for alarm. Why not just ask him how does he equate your relationship. This will save you the guessing.

Dear Liz,

I have the strangest feeling that I have re-incarnated. Ever since I saw the movie "The Reincarnation of Peter Proud" it has caused me to wonder. Do you believe these things exist? If not, what should I do?

Wondering

Dear Wondering,

Whether or not I personally believe in reincarnation for you at this point is irrelevant. However, the mind can really make you or mold you into about anything that you desire. I would suggest that you deal with your "present" form and don't worry about what you were in your "remote past."

WSSU Grad 1st In Country To Finish

A 34-year-old Winston-Salem woman graduated from Winston-Salem State University on Dec. 15, 1976. Her major was in business administration with a concentration in housing management. She did not find out until a few days ago that she was the first to graduate in the program in the entire country. The program is funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Mrs. Earline Parmon, a mother of three, of 1633 Marble St., was also selected to be listed in the 1976-77 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities."

These are but a few of her accomplishments, adding to a growing impressive list. These new additions however are so far her most gratifying.

"I don't have time for too many hobbies, but I am active in the community," she said. She said she worked very hard on the Howard Lee campaign as well as the campaign for Gov. Jim Hunt, getting students involved in the campaign.

Mrs. Parmon was informed Monday by Mr. James Lassiter, Director of Equal Opportunities in Greensboro and by H.U.D. officials that she was the first graduate with a degree in housing management to successfully finish the program in the country. Similar programs had been set up at Howard University in Washington, D.C., Temple University in Philadelphia, Pa., Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., and Southern Texas University in Houston, Tex.

"The purpose of the educational grants from H.U.D. was to train competent, efficient housing managers for public and subsidized housing," she said. "I'm ready to be just that," she said with a broad smile.

She urged other blacks to get into this field because the field is wide open according to HUD officials. She says they are pushing to place as many as possible in job fields after completion of the program which takes four years of college training.

"By 1980 there will be a need for at least 60,000 housing managers in this country," she said. "That means there is little time to fit that bill. That's three years away," she said. She said HUD officials are trying to place her now, "probably in the triad area."

Mrs. Parmon, who plans to pursue a career in public service in the area of Public Housing Administration, was an honor student on the dean's list at both WSSU and Forsyth Technical Institute where she got her associate applied science degree in business administration.

Mrs. Parmon is a member of the Day-Student Association, Phi Beta Lambda (National Business Club), Housing Management Advisory Board, and year book staff. She is also a former den mother and assistant leader for the Girl Scouts of America. She presently a member of the United States Army Reserve.

To My Impatient Lover

if you love me, time would be of no essence, you'd be happy with just my presence, being a woman, I can understand that you're nothing but a man. I don't really want to make you wait, but it might be better for both our sake the longer I hold back my love, the better I can see how much you really mean to me the longer you wait, you'll want me more. only then will I be sure my heart, won't get tore in time I'll be old and slowly moving on you might take your precious love and be gone
