

Dedicatory Services Held

The Holy Ghost Miracle Fellowship Center, Inc. was organized 21 months ago on January 11, 1976 at 2601 N. Cherry Street, Winston-Salem, N.C. It was at this time that a small group of people under the leadership of Evangelist Ruth P. Calhoun, believing in the real gospel of Jesus Christ with signs, wonders and miracles following; with emphasis on divine healing, saving and deliverance, was organized. These services were held on Sunday (9:30-bible study, 11:00-morning worship, 7:30-evening worship, Wednesday and Friday nights-prayer services at 7:30). The church has now moved to its new location at 5304 Old Walkertown Road which is located approximately two miles beyond the Ogburn Station intersection at Liberty Street Ext. Saturday evening, September 3, 1977 at 7:30 p.m. marked the opening dedicatory services of the church with a musical program. The Holy Ghost Miracle Fellowship choir, The Shiloh Baptist Church Young Adult choir and the Woodbury Miracle Fellowship Center, Inc. choir (our sister choir) were presented in concert. Climaxing the dedicatory services was the 11:00 a.m. Sunday worship September 4, 1977. The message was delivered by Evangelist Ruth P. Calhoun, pastor of Holy Ghost Miracle Fellowship Center, Inc. Members from the Woodbury Miracle Fellowship Center Inc. of which our leader, Sister Calhoun, is the pastor assisted in the services. After the 11:00 worship, dinner was served on the church grounds. The public is invited to all services at Holy Ghost Miracle Fellowship Center. Come expecting a Miracle from God.

Miss Johnson Attends Exeter

Lemelia Kay Johnson, a June graduate of Paisley High School, is attending Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, New Hampshire where she was awarded an academic scholarship.

Lemelia Kay Johnson

Lemelia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel L. Johnson of 2828 Bon Air Avenue. She attended Brunson Elementary, Wiley Jr. High, and Paisley High where she was a member of the Academically Talented Class.

In addition to academic achievements, Lemelia also runs track. She has received many trophies and ribbons running at school and for the Road Runners Track Club. She and her teammates at Paisley take pride in their latest achievement—a record time (50.3) in the 440 yard relay for high school girls last spring. Lemelia sends her best regards to all of her friends back home.

House Blessing-Reception Held

"When God smiles upon a family for many years and blesses them with a dream come true, it is only fitting that we pause briefly and recognize this blessing with ceremony." Such were the words of happiness expressed by John Wesley Collins, Jr. and wife Roberta at their house blessing and reception held last Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

After the Rev. William Saxe Epps, Minister at First Baptist Church of the city blessed the house, Mrs. Delores J. Wall's melodious voice echoed throughout the house with a beautiful rendition of "Bless This House."

Guests were then served a luscious meal consisting of barbecue spare ribs, fried chicken, potato salad, corn on the cob, tossed salad with assorted dressings, cole slaw, toasted potato bread and chocolate cake. The delectable meal was served from the patio and lawn.

All the way from the state of New York came Rosa E. Small (Bronx) and Lewis Harris (Brooklyn). From the Capitol City of Washington, D.C. came James Duncan. Willie Mae Crews came from Wendell, N.C. as did James and Patricia Dixon and Madam Mable Latimer of Charlotte, also Eddie Battle.

The Oscar Vaughns were there and so were the McDuffies-Marshall and Priscilla. Also among the well wishers were the Edward Joyners (Sr.), Clay Bradshaw, societal flings Patricia "Pat" Wilson, Alinda Foote, Louise Ramseur Beale, Alice Ledbetter, Delores Wall and Frederick Barnes added that extra ray of sunshine to the day as did Mr. James Robinson.

No affair of 'the Collinses would have been complete without Bobbie Jean Collins (sister of the host) and Mr. & Mrs. Amos Ulysses Wilson. The charming Mrs. Wilson assisted Mrs. Collins as the "hostess with the mostest" touch.

A touching as well as delightful time was enjoyed by all. The Collinses and their lovely daughter Pamela reside at 3906 Cottingham Dr. after residing in New York for approximately 20 yrs.

To be or not to be...chosen for a part in a local play may well depend on your experience. These auditioning actors are amateurs, but they are certainly not novices.

Auditions Aren't For Amateurs

Auditioning for a play can be an ego-rending experience, in case you are thinking of trying it. Last Wednesday night's audition for the Winston-Salem Little Theatre's production of "A Lion in Winter" was a fair example of how it goes. About thirty people showed up to read for seven parts. The director, in this case Paul Schneider who has directed plays for the New York Shakespeare Festival, sits with his assistant in 'solitary splendor' a few rows from the stage, and calls the would-be actors to the stage to read from the script.

actors who will open on September 23rd. The play, which takes place in 12th century France, deals with the family squabbles of Henry II and his estranged queen Eleanor of Aquitaine, whom he has kept in a dungeon for ten years. The battling Plantagenets spend Christmas scheming over which son will be the next king of England: Richard, whom you may have heard of as friend of Robin Hood and Thomas A. Beckett; John, a friend of the sheriff of Nottingham and signer of the Magna Charta in later life; and Geoffrey, who is "all wheels and gears."

It is a witty and sophisticated comedy, which has been done as a film with Peter O'Toole and Katherine Hepburn as the royal couple. The cast for the Little Theatre production will feature Jim Austin and Robin Ross as Henry and Eleanor, with L.B. Butler as Princess Alais. The Royal version of "My Three Sons" consists of Jim Knight, Steve Eury, and Peter Holland, and Alexei Ritchie will portray Philip of France. This play will initiate a season of winners, and-as we told you before--don't expect to see an 'amateur' performance; they don't come any better.

"Read page 26, please, Sir."

"What is this play about?" asked the young man.

He can forget it. One of the first things you should know about amateur theatres is that they aren't staffed by amateurs. Some of the people reading for those parts were probably born in "Auntie Mame" and cut their teeth on a Samuel French prompt book. They have a string of credits, albeit mostly local, that could enable them to go one-on-one with Helen Hayes.

Winston-Salem offers many places to get theatre experience, from Tanglewood to Winston-Salem State, and the products of the local theatres are very polished performers indeed.

Peter Holland read for the part of Henry with an expertise that could make one believe in reincarnation.

The thirty-odd hopefuls have been whittled down now to seven excellent

Alumni Group To Meet

The North Carolina Talladega State Alumni Association will hold its state-wide semi-annual meeting at the Hilton Inn in Winston-Salem on Sunday, September 18, at 1 p.m.

State Alumni president Virginia K. Newell explained that the organization, which has about 100 members, is composed of graduates of Talladega College in Alabama, a participant school in the United Negro College Fund. "One of the topics to be discussed at this meeting is the recruitment of students," said Mrs. Newell. "We feel that blacks should support the black-oriented institutions. Often they can meet black students' needs better than white schools."

Anyone wishing to attend the alumni meeting may call 723-0924 for reservations.
