Community Leader Dies

Frank W. Murrell, of 430 West 24th, expired unexpectedly Sunday morning. Mr. Murrell, a native Davidson county, had lived in this city most of his life, where he attended public schools.

Murrell was a member of the Sts. Home Methodist Church, where he served on the board and Day care center. He was President of F.W. Murrell & Sons, Stone & Cement Contractors, chairman of the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Imperial Director of the Convention & Local Organization, a member of James H. Murrell Memorial Lodge No. 170, King Solomon Consistory No. 64, all Prince Hall Lodges.

In 1952, when Murrell was named outstanding businessman of the year by the Delta Sigma Delta Alpha chapters of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc., it was noted that Murrell had net worth of $37,500, one wheelbarrow and two shovels. He was active in a number of civic organizations, including Goodwill Industries, March of Dimes, the Coliseum and Convention Center commission, the Chamber of Commerce, the merchants association, the Beter Business Bureau and the NAACP.

WSSU Begins Arts Festival

The Winston-Salem University Lyceum will present the University Fine Arts Festival, February 28 through March 17. The festival includes programs presented by various University groups and guest artists. The University Drama Guild opens the festival with performances of the Tennessee Williams play, "On a Hot Tin Roof," Monday through Thursday, March 2. Each performance will be held at 8 p.m. in the Kenneth Williams Auditorium. The festival will also include an exhibit of drawings and paintings by Dr. G. Michaux of Lehigh University, North Carolina. The exhibit will hang in the University Fine Arts Gallery through Friday, March 17. The gallery is open weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Combine JELL-O and yogurt for a delicious new salad

Dissolve 1 package (3 oz.) JELL-O® Brand Gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Add 1/2 cup cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Blend in 1 container (8 oz.) yogurt. Add 1 to 2 cups fruits (sliced bananas, canned sliced peaches, sliced apple). Chill until set. Makes 4 to 6 servings. For other exciting salad ideas, look for recipes in August and September women's magazines.

The Humphrey-Hawkins bill main objective is employment. The bill would strive for 3 per cent adult unemployment and 4 per cent overall unemployment by 1983, compared to the present unemployment rate of 7.1 per cent.

There are eight candidates running for U.S. Senate. In addition to Davis there are Joe Felmet, W.B. Griffen, Luther Hodges, Jr., Joseph Ingram, David McKnight, Thomas Sawyer and McNeill Smith. Most of Davis's opponents support the bill, which would try to combat joblessness without increasing inflation.

"I support the bill wholeheartedly," Democratic Candidate Joe Felmet said when contacted by phone.

"I believe by virtue of the fact that if a person is an American citizen, he or she should be employed. If the private sector can't employ everyone, then the federal government should step in and employ these people," Felmet said.

Felmet said that black youths would benefit more than anyone else. In August of 1977 black youth suffered an unemployment rate of 40.4 per cent. Unemployment for black men was 11.5 per cent and 12.2 per cent for black women.

Lawrence Davis said he also supports welfare reform.

"The department is seeking to provide billion of dollars to the wealthiest states, while doing nothing for the states with the highest percentage of impoverished people," Davis said.

Davis said that most people in North Carolina live on a fixed income and that the average paycheck has less purchasing power.

He also said that Health, Education and Welfare (H.E.W.) should be cut down to size and that it far exceeds the defense budget.

"H.E.W. should not have the money or man power to go around tending to the sale of tobacco," Davis said. "Grown people can make their own decisions as to the use of tobacco or saccharine in their coffee."

Davis also said that H.E.W. Secretary Joseph Califano's resignation would not solve the problem.

"Their are 12,000 people employed in the tobacco industry in Winston-Salem," Davis said. "H.E.W. is spending $23 million to advertise against the tobacco industry which brings in $7 billion in tax money each year."

Davis also favors a balanced federal budget as soon as it can be attained.

"The ultimate goal would be to cut out the fat in the budget and eliminate programs which waste the tax payers' money," Davis said.

"The Victory is there to be seized and the race is wide open," Davis said in reference to the campaign. "We need positive leadership working in the best interest of all our people and not just vested interests."

Davis also added that a leader should unite the people and work toward "unity and understanding instead of diversiveness and distrust."

Higher Pay Offered

"What lies in store for my son after high school graduation?" If you're one of many parents asking that question, there's good news. You can head your son toward a job that will teach him a skill that will pay well while he learns.

A ONE-MONTH VACATION is just one of the benefits of a job open to your son.

Final Series At Library

"When we think of great men we often think of people we read about in books," Margaret Allen, librarian for the East Winston Branch told the members of the audience at the final program of the library's Afro American History Month series.

"That may not always be the case. The people in Winston-Salem can be proud to know that we had a great man right here in this city. He inspired us, he touched many of our lives and we dedicate this series in memory and in appreciation of Dr. Joseph N. Patterson," Margaret Allen said.

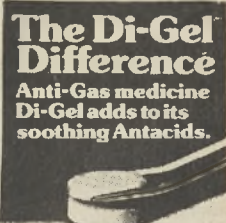

Dr. Patterson was a professor of education and philosophy at Winston-Salem State University and died February 4, a few days before he was to appear on the library program.

As part of the program participants form the Winston-Salem Recreation Department entertained the audience with their creative dancing. They danced both to contemporary and African music.

The Wednesday night program was an opportunity to bring together African students who live in the community. A question and answer period was held for the audience to ask some of the Africans about their country. The questions covered the areas of African resources to the South African political situation.

A movie was shown, "International Zones-African Dances" which showed how some Africans dance to express themselves.
