Howard Chorale Performs Friday

By Angela L. Wilder
 Cub Reporter
 The Howard University Chorale, presented by the Howard University Alum-

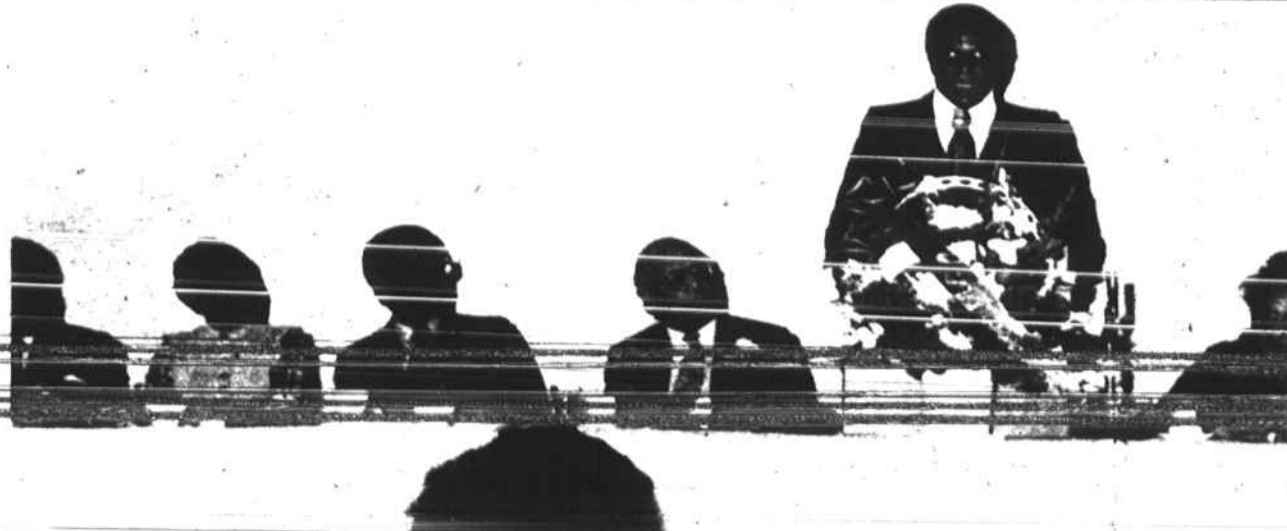

human right and not a privilege. Dedicated to the tasks of educating its students for socially intelligent lives, Howard University, as a Matter of history and tradition, has a special responsibility for the education of black students disadvantaged by the system of racial discrimination.

will perform at First Baptist Church on Highland Avenue at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 24th.

The Chorale, composed of 120 students under the direction of J. Weldon Norris, has traveled internationally. One for the presentation of the Chorale is to draw attention to the university for recruitment.

The university's libraries contain more than 900,000 volumes. The university radio station, WHUR-FM, serves the Washington area and is a broadcast training laboratory for students. The Howard University Press was formally organized in 1972. By 1974, the press had published 60 books. The university competes in 15 varsity sports including basketball, baseball, football, golf, soccer, tennis, track, wrestling and volleyball.

Howard is regarded as one of the most prestigious institutions of higher learning in the United States. Current enrollment exceeds 10,000 students who represent 50 states, the District of Columbia and more than 90 countries.

Coach Ray Greene speaks to members of the audience last Friday night at the NCCU Alumni banquet. Greene will be coaching the football team. Also appearing on the program were Chancellor A.N. Whiting and Dr. Helen G. Edmonds.

NCCU Host Banquet

By Carolyn M. Neal
 Special to the Chronicle
 The Winston-Salem Chapter of the North Carolina Central University Alumni Association held a kick-off banquet for its Athletic Endowment Fund Friday evening, March 17th at the Benton Convention Center.

Dr. Bernell Jones, chapter president, presided. Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, distinguished professor emeritus at NCCU, delivered the main address. Other remarks were made by NCCU Chancellor, Dr. Albert N. Whiting, Frank Silva, Director of Athletics at NCCU, and Dr. S. Dallas Simmons, Vice Chancellor for University Relations. Ray Greene, newly-hired head football coach, was introduced to the group.

The Athletic Endowment Fund, which will be known as the Winston Plan in recognition of its birth through the efforts of members of the Winston-Salem Chapter of the NCCU Alumni Association, was conceived by Irving Allen and other alumni members. This enthusiastic group of Winston-Salem alumni went to NCCU to find out what could be done to help the faltering athletic program which had long been a source of pride to the school's graduates but which, in recent years, was no longer achieving the championship performances alumni remembered. Allen's group decided that support could best be provided through a sound financial foundation for athletics - through a fund which would always provide basic support for sports programs. Winston-Salem could not provide the full endowment needed, the alumni decided, but the Chapter could design a plan - the Winston Plan - which would, after testing in Winston-Salem, be a model for the thousands of NCCU alumni throughout the United States.

Dr. Whiting thanked the banquet audience for embarking on such a venture on behalf of the university. Silva outlined the athletic program as it now stands pointing out that because there is no state money for athletic scholarships, for coaches' salaries, for uniforms, equipment, team travel and the building of athletic facilities as such, the major source of revenue for athletics comes from the alumni. Silva then introduced the new football coach, Ray Greene.

In his remarks to the banquet audience, Greene, formally the offensive coach at Michigan State University, outlined his basic program for achieving a winning football team and cited ways the Winston Plan would enhance his program.

The Alta Vista Garden Club met March 16th at the home of Mrs. Mattie Jones with Pres. Louise King presiding.

The guest speaker was Joe Norman, candidate for the North Carolina State House who gave some interesting remarks and asked for the support of all present.

Hostesses were Mrs. Beulah Hickerson and Mrs. Mattie Jones. The next meeting will be April 20th at the home of Mrs. Juanita Penn with Mrs. Clara Hargraves as co-hostess.

 Rho Zeta and Omega Chapters of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Inc. concluded their observance of FINER WOMANHOOD on Sunday, March 19th. The Chapters worshipped at First Baptist Church on Highland Avenue after which guests of the members joined them for fellowship and dinner in the Red Room at Winston-Salem State University.

Preceding the dinner Soror Bettye W. Harvey gave a few brief excerpts from a history of the chapter. One of the Founders, the late Soror Lucy C. Sheffey, was remembered as sorors and guests paused in silent meditation.

The welcome was brought by Soror Katherine Walker who also acknowledged the members of the program committee. Soror Dollye K. Mack led the singing of the grace.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. was founded at Howard University on January 16, 1920. From its beginning as a social organization for college women, it is now a service sorority with chapters throughout the United States and on the continent of Africa. Gamma Guys & Dolls

Host National Board

Gamma Chapter of Guys & Dolls, Inc. hosted the National Organizations Eleventh National Executive Board Meeting

Friday & Saturday March 10 & 11, 1978 at the Holiday Inn North.

Guys & Dolls, Inc., a family organization founded in Greensboro, North Carolina by Mrs. Eula K. Vereen was established to facilitate family togetherness, cultural, educational and recreational experiences through organizational travel and group participation.

Ten chapters were represented at this National Executive Board Meeting to hear Commissioner Mazie Woodruff, Guest Speaker for the Saturday luncheon. Mrs. Woodruff urged the group to keep God in their lives and to teach our children that he can sustain us in all things. She recounted how, through the years, she has depended on him to give her strength to carry whatever burdens she encountered in her home life, community and civic responsibilities. Mrs. Woodruff cautioned the group against the urge and/or temptation to fight each other. To resist hate in any form since the haters and not the hated are the ones who suffer.

As Mrs. Woodruff related the difficulties of making the decision to run for Forsyth County Commissioner, she encouraged the group to support each other. To give your fellow man a hand and push up instead of pulling him down she said that it takes love and working together to get ahead.

Mrs. Woodruff related to the group things that were told to her and her family by relatives who had been slaves. She used this point to urge the young people present at the luncheon to keep, and remember the things that are important to us as a people. The young people, in all age ranges, listened intently as Mrs. Woodruff explained that life is not always "good times and parties."

Independence is important she said and money is important, but you must learn to spend some and save some. That the trend is not showing respect, for the elderly must be reversed. She stated that she could appreciate their de-
