

Ram of the Week

Blount Returns With a Bang

WSSU quarterback Kermit Blount has been selected as the Winston-Salem Chronicle's "Ram of the Week" for the second time this season for his play in leading the undefeated and number one nationally ranked Rams to a 55-29 victory over Livingstone Saturday night in Salisbury. The 5'8" junior led a Ram attack which rolled up 686 yards total offense and scored the most points of any Ram team since Blount has been at the school.

The All-CIAA signal caller scored on runs of 56 and 1 yard, rushed for 58 yards, and completed 8 of 13 passes for 134 yards, before leaving in the third quarter with the Rams holding a 42-17 advantage, with severe leg cramps.

The outstanding performance came just one week after Blount had sat out three quarters of the Rams win over Norfolk State with a shoulder injury.

Despite missing part of that game and being relieved by David Tracy in the latter part of other games Blount still ranks second in the conference in total offense with 725 yards, and average of more than 120 yards per game. He was league leader in that category last season.

Behind the leadership of the Richmond, Va. native the Rams now lead the CIAA in scoring and total offense. They are averaging more than 402 yards and 28 points per game.

According to coach Bill Hayes, Blount is the key to the team's offense. "Kermit is the man. He makes the offense go. He is calling most of his own plays now and he is doing a fine job of reading the defense and selecting plays."

"He assumed the play calling duties at the beginning of the season. Still, the little speedster likes to improvise on occasion. On Saturday, he called for a bootleg pass that turned into a 56 yard touchdown run. I called for a bootleg pass but I was thinking, run all the way. If I had called the bootleg run in the huddle, somebody might have given it away."

Thought to be too small to play quarterback when he graduated from high school, he was passed up by many schools, but Hayes saw the competitiveness and ability in Blount and made him his starting quarterback from day one at WSSU. The move has resulted in a CIAA championship, one undefeated regular season, and an 18 game winning streak during regular season play and the top ranking among NCAA Division II schools.

Blount is almost assured of becoming the Rams most productive quarterback ever before he leaves WSSU in terms of yardage. He already is the most productive in terms of wins with yet another year and a half left to go.

CIAA Round-Up

HAMPTON, VA. Two of the top CIAA teams, Virginia Union and Elizabeth City State, fought a tough battle, only to end in a 20-20 tie, Saturday night in Elizabeth City, North Carolina, while the number one team in the NCAA, Division II, and in the CIAA, Winston-Salem vs. Livingstone, turned out to be an offense battle as the scores related.

The spectators got their money's worth as the two teams traded points back and forth with Winston-Salem emerging as the victors, 55-29.

Running back, Arrington Jones, a 6'1", 238 lbs, sophomore from Richmond, VA, rushed 14 times and picked up 153 yards and 2 touchdowns while offensive tackle, Gary Raiford, 6'3", 225 lbs, senior from Goldsboro, NC played his best game of the season by blocking on the line and downfield, and leading the way for Arrington Jones to score. He earned the CIAA Recognition of Achievement Award as Offensive Lineman of the Week.

Livingstone College put up a valiant effort against the Rams before their largest hometown crowd in the history of the school. 10,000 spectators came out to see the Bear's much improved offensive squad hold its own against the Rams.

Led and inspired by quarterback Marshall Meadows, a 5'9", 145 lbs, sophomore from Spartanburg, SC, who came into the game the last of the second quarter to pass for 18 completions out of 25 for 286 yards. He threw 2 touchdown passes, one for 70 yards to wide receiver James Jackson, and the second for 23 yards to running back, Josh Bryant. For his performance, Meadows earned the CIAA Offensive Back of the Week Award.

Jackson has led the CIAA in individual receptions the last 3 weeks. He is a senior, wide receiver from Miami, and is also one of the teams top scorers.

Before a chilled crowd in Elizabeth City, NC, the number two CIAA team, Elizabeth City State (tied with Hampton in conference wins and losses), and the number three team, Virginia Union, who is also the number 10 team in the NCAA, Division II Poll, met for a thrilling battle that ended in a 20-20 tie.

The Virginia Union Panthers started the competition by making 3 touchdowns within the first quarter and a half.

Halfback Judge Thomas, a 6'1", 190 lbs. senior from Roanoke, VA displayed unique versatility and agility in his plays. He rushed 22 times for 118 yards and leads the conference in scoring.

If you have ever had a hankering to construct your own lures, don't give up on it. Now you don't have to worry too much if it turns out at first to be a bit sloppy; the fish will never know.

Most lures do not favor anything in particular anyway. In most cases they arouse the curiosity of the fish and they strike out of fear or annoyance. However, if they are on the lead and something moves among their prey, it is also taken, regardless of its appearance. The home tied streamer that I am most interested in is the easiest to construct. By taking a number 8 treble hook and tying on white bucktail or white feathers, a fish taking lure can be yours. Wrap the decoration on to the shank with fly tying thread and secure with nail polish or lacquer.

This type of streamer fly does not have very much action within itself, but the necessary action can be imparted by making it dart and dive. The streamer is an excellent crappie lure and I have caught bass while crappie fishing. I remember Coy Traynham using one of my home tied streamers down on the High Point Lake during a Saturday morning fishing trip. Using the streamer on a flyrod he layed the lure down at the edge of a stand of grass. Wham-o! He hung into a bass that fought so long around and under the boat that Coy almost gave up and tempted to break his line. That was the fight- ingest two pounder that I had ever seen. Whether you know it or not the crappie is the most gullible fish around. It will strike at most anything. If you are a smoker and you run out of minnows, tear the filter off a cigarette, unwrap it and impale it on a hook. If you are a crappie fan, but keep it moving, whether on a cane pole or reel and it will produce crappie. If you are one of those fishermen who have put away your gear for the season, you are making a mistake. There is still more fishing to be had before the freeze.
