

Emmanuel Baptist Has 64th Anniversary

By Yvette McCullough
Staff Writer

Members of Emmanuel Baptist Church began celebrating the church's 64th anniversary and the 28th anniversary of the pastor, Rev. S. Walter Mack, Sunday at the church. The celebration will continue until the 22nd.

Rev. J.L. Coleman and the Chestnut Grove Baptist Church of Statesville, rendered the 3 p.m. service Sunday and Rev. T.R. Rice and Mercy Seat Holy Church were in charge of the evening service.

Salem State Teacher's College (WSSU), the church began a remodeling project, which cost in excess of $10,000.

A building fund project was later launched in 1963 and plans were made for further expansion. The church contracted the North Winston Baptist Church in 1967, which was located at 500 E. 16th Street at Ivy Avenue. That same church was destroyed by fire in 1972 and a definite cause was not found.

Emmanuel moved into its present location on Shalimar Drive in 1974. A new education building/fellowship

Church Of The Week

Emmanuel Baptist Church is presently located on Shalimar Drive, but it began in 1914 as a prayer meeting in the Columbia Heights Area. In 1916 they were properly organized, having received their name from the late WSSU professor, J.W. Paisley.

In 1950, Rev. Mack, who was then pastor at First Baptist Church in Mocksville, became the youngest pastor in the history of Emmanuel. In 1952, due to increasing membership and loyal attendance from Winston-Salem State Teacher's College (WSSU), the church began a re-d

In 1950, Rev. Mack, who was then pastor at First Baptist Church in Mocksville, became the youngest pastor in the history of Emmanuel. In 1952, due to increasing membership and loyal attendance from Winston-hall has been added. There is also a child care center located in the church during the week. The parking lot and playground have been finished, a bus and a van purchased and a permanent bulletin board erected.

Rev. Mack, is a native of Winston-Salem. He began his ministry at age 12, and for many years he was referred to as the "boy preacher."

As a high school student he pastored Bethlehem Baptist Church in Stoneville, N.C. In 1974 he became pastor of First Baptist Church in Mooresville.

Over the years Rev. Mack has been Chorister of the Sunday School/B.T.U. Convention of the Rowan Baptist Association, President of the Baptist Minister's Conference, a member of the YMCA, and presently he is vice-president of the local chapter of the NAACP.

INKLINGS

by Carol Sheets

Cannibalism? In the 20th century? Ask Don Richardson. He's spent a good part of his life working among primitive tribes in the country of New Guinea. Several years ago in Reader's Digest a condensed version of the book PEACH CHILD was printed. This amazing story tells how Don went to live in a treacherous culture in order to tell the Indians about God and His Son, Jesus Christ.

How does one communicate love and trust to a tribe of Indians who practice the art of friendship, only to catch that friend unaware and kill him. When Don was relating the story of Jesus and His mission to this world, Judas was the most successful in deception. The Indians made their hearts with the Gospel. This breathtaking true story reveals God's answer in meeting man where he is.

Don Richardson has written another book entitled LORDS OF THE EARTH. Again we follow this missionary to a country and a people who know only killing as a way of survival.

God has called ordinary men to take his message to those who don't know His love. Ken Olsen is one of those like Don who had no special training for the work which needed to be done. In the book FOR THIS CROSS I'LL KILL YOU, a young man willingly answers God's call to another tribe of Indians.

After living with the tribe for months, only one convert is the result. What technique should be used to reach the whole tribe? Is American Christianity the answer?

Ken finds that God wants to use this young Indian Christian to reach his brothers in their culture, right where they are. Though these stories tell of missions in a foreign land, the principle hold true for missions at home. God wants to use us to reach that neighbor right where he is.

NEWS Of Education

Safety Message For Schools

Your school-age boy or girl could be safer because of an important safety message that is available to classroom teachers, school administrators and youth groups about the potential dangers of detonating cord connectors.

To show your children what a detonating cord connector looks like and what to do if they find one, the Institute of Makers of Explosives has made available a full-color poster and related safety information that reminds school children of the dangers of detonating cord connectors.

People with a lawful need to use detonating cord connectors keep a tight security on them.
