

Belview Honors Members

by Yvette McCullough

Members of the Belview Civic League honored three chartered members last Friday night at their Founder's Day program. The members honored were, Mr. B.H. Crawford, Mr. H.E. Pickard, and Mr. W.T. Wright.

The men were honored for recognizing a need in the Belview community and then doing something about it. They were instrumental in starting the Belview Civic League in 1945. One of their main concerns at that time, was to get a school in the area and improving their community.

The league began as all male, but women were later accepted into the organization.

The league, with the community support and help acquired the building for the Belview Recreation Center. Members of the club had to run the center and purchase equipment for the center, even though it belonged to the city. "Whenever there was a need seen, the Belview Civic League was ready to fight for the cause," one member said.

The speaker for the Founder's Day program, which was held at Waughtown Baptist Church, was Mrs. Willie E. Grimes, a retired librarian and former member of the league.

Also appearing on the program were the St. Andrews Methodist Church Choir, Mr. R.L. Henry, Rev. K. Robinson, Rev. E.L. Grant, Mrs. Frances Murray, Mrs. M.M. Griffin, Mrs. Rosa G. Young, Mr. Roland Wright, Rev. Walser, and Rev. Huntley. Rev. E.L. Grant is the pastor of the church.

Tips for Consumers

The huge, octopus-like thing that sits in the basement awaiting the cold season to start its work requires attention now. Almost all oil burners examined in recent government tests were oversized. That means the furnace burns oil—and your dollars—at a faster rate than necessary. However, with some modifications a significant amount of oil and money can be saved, says the Better Business Bureau. Read on, for the chill of winter is on its way.

How It Works

The heating system consists of four principal parts: the burner, furnace (or boiler), heat distribution system and chimney. Each plays a role in the efficient production of warmth. Fuel oil is used by the burner to generate heat. Part of the heat is absorbed by the furnace(boiler), transferred to water or air, and then distributed through the home by air ducts or hot water pipes and radiators. Heat not used by the furnace is lost up the chimney in the process of disposing of smoke and gases.

An immediate energy-savings idea that comes to mind is to cut down on the amount of heated air escaping through the chimney.

Precautions are a must: Check with local building inspectors to make sure local regulations permit dampers.

Obtain the services of a qualified, trained installer. Request an inspection of the completed installation by a building inspector or fuel oil supplier.
