WanEtta Belle

Fashions Aid Scholars

WanEtta Belle, a junior at Hood Theological Seminary in Salisbury, is sponsoring a talent/fashion show at the Benton Convention Center on April 16 at 4:30 on behalf of the seminary's scholarship fund.

Belle is the reigning queen "Miss Hood 1978-79." The "Miss Hood" contest is an annual event sponsored by the seminary to raise scholarship funds for the students. Belle is giving the benefit in support of this program.

Appearing in the fashion part of the program will be children ranging from the ages of 6 to 12. Appearing in the talent part of the program will be William (Jimmy) Kennedy, a student at the North Carolina School of the Arts.

Kennedy will sing, dance and do some drama. He appeared in the Little Theatre's production of "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope" and Harry Wheeler's "Feelings."

Belle is a native of Winston-Salem and the associate minister of Goler Metropolitan Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris and the mother of two children.

The tickets to the show are $1 and can be purchased at the door.
