feuding and for coming forth with a united front.

Mrs. Earline Parmon, BPAL Membership Chairman, urged non-members present to join and support BPAL, and Rev. Charles Green, Chairman of the Breakfast, indicated that other unity breakfasts will be held in the not too distant future.

BPAL is composed of precinct chairmen and first vice chairmen and representatives of various groups and organizations in the black community. Its purpose is to articulate issues and concerns of the black community and to provide the political machinery to support capable and qualified candidates.

The group was pleased to observe on their way to the breakfast and to hear that the Mechanics and Farmers bank building was on schedule and that the bank should be ready to open in September. There was concern expressed that the bank was not engaging in banking operations now in a temporary building.

White stated that the bank is prohibited legally from doing any banking business in the community until the building is ready.

$560,000 in one phone call," he said.

From his own staff, which is the administrative arm of the prime sponsor for CETA in Winston-Salem, Farabee lost a manpower coordinator; two independent monitors; two intermediate accountant clerks, a receptionist and an accounting technician.

There are over 470 prime sponsors in the country with 13 of them in the state. What is not done by the state prime sponsors is handled up by State Human Services Director Howard Lee's office.

Summer employment is another area that Farabee says he expects to be cut by the Reagan administration.

"Because of the freeze and budget cuts, we won't be able to serve as many of the youth of the city through summer jobs like we did last year," he said, adding, that he is hoping to get 500 teenagers jobs for the summer.

According to a White House press aide, the president is requesting that the Youth Employment and Training Program (YETP) and the Youth Community Conservation Improvement (YCCIP) be folded into CETA's basic employment and training programs, along with Title IIBC and the Summer Youth Employment Program. Although the president is proposing no change in the FY81 budget authority or outlays for YETP/YCCIP, he is requesting that there be no expenditures for the two youth programs in FY82 and no new legislation to replace them.

were served in the city through the CETA system. This year Farabee had expected to serve 2450, but now he says that he isn't sure because he believes more cuts are on the way.

Farabee did say that he was glad that his office was able to give the phase out employees from five to six weeks notice or their termination rather than the two weeks that some agencies gave.

"If they had caught us with our full enrollment, like they did other prime sponsors we would have really been in trouble. A lot of prime sponsors were caught with no money and as a result, we have been having emergency meetings all over the country to discuss what to do," he said, adding, that local CETA employees were given adequate notification as mandated by the DOL.

Farabee said that he is determined to see that the CETA employees and his staff members get placed in jobs.

"I've notified agencies and participants in the Employment and Training Advisory Council (ETAC) and the Private Industry Council (PIC); we met and I advised them of the situation and they have pledged as a unified body to help," Farabee said.

He continued, "The mayor is working through his contacts and pledges have been made through the Employment Security Commission and the Chamber of Commerce, both of which are addressing themselves to the needs of these people. The Human Services Department has a responsibility to develop an extensive job search program, which we already had, but now it's much more comprehensive to help search for jobs."

Farabee said that he is aware that some of the terminated employees won't find jobs or are not qualified to receive unemployment compensation and that is why he is trying to get such quick action on the matter.

"There are strong indications that other cuts are coming, but hopefully, not before FY82 which begins Oct. 1.

We have some good employees who aren't going to have their jobs very soon, and I am proud and thankful of the way this community has moved quickly to make the transition and a bad situation, go as smoothly as possible," he said.

other things before they got down to CETA, and the way that they did just got my two weeks notice Friday. I doubt if I'll find something by then.

"I have a little boy and an apartment and bills like everybody else," said Alice Brown, a typist in the office of Alumni Affairs at Winston-Salem State University.

"I can't do anything about it. My time would have been up at the end of the year anyway, but it is a disappointment to have it end so abruptly," said.

Ann Brewer is one participant who has a little hope for the future. "I'm to stay on here after the program is over," said Brewer, a staff assistant at Creative Life.

"I'm hoping it will work out because I love the job and what I'm doing."

With Wachovia IRA's, you can earn interest at money market rates... and save on taxes, too.

Wachovia pays interest on Individual Retirement Accounts based on current Money Market rates. And don't forget that all the money you put into your Wachovia IRA is tax-deductible for the year in which it's deposited. In fact, none of the money in your IRA or the interest it earns is subject to any Federal or State income tax until you withdraw it during your retirement years, when you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket.

If you aren't covered under a qualified retirement or pension plan, there's never been a better time to open your own retirement account with Wachovia. If you open it before April 15, you can deduct your deposit from your 1980 taxable income. Why not make a wise investment for your future... and save on taxes right now! See your Personal Banker this week about opening a Wachovia Individual Retirement Account. No Federally insured bank or savings and loan association can pay a higher rate on regular deposits.

12% per annum interest on accounts opened through 4/16/81

12.935% per annum effective yield

Funds already on deposit in a Wachovia Individual Retirement Account cannot automatically be converted to the current interest rate. The conversion can be made at your request; however, Federal regulations may require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a time deposit.
