2nd Annual Hair Show

Electrifying Hair 1981

By Azzie Wagner

Electrifying hair goes everywhere, this was the theme from which Ervins Beauty Services and participating local beauticians designed a most educational and entertaining evening of hair styles and fashions recently at the T.O.C. Club. Minnie Ervin described the occasion as the end results of her many miles of travel. Actually, she traveled to 15 different states in 1980 just to keep abreast of the many changes in the hair care and beauty industry.

The hair show was designed to educate the public on the many styles you can receive in local beauty shops. From the proper basic cut and style you can very easily restyle your hair to go where you are going. Sharon Cheek and Karen Alspaugh were local hair artist coordinating the hair styles to compliment the scenes in the show. From the response of the audience they did a fantastic job.

The scenes were: (1) call to worship church wear, (2) silver reflections elegant ladies with highlighted hair, (3) 9 to 5 office lounging, (5) J.R.'s round-up that ever popular western look, (6) We've only just begun, the beautiful wedding scene, hair styles for the entire wedding party, (7) splash down time hair styles for the summer with emphasis on beach wear, (8) touch of class hair styles for evening wear, (9) night life hair styles that may be easily changed from office wear to disco. Rhonda Johnson was commentator for the show. Rosa Ervin was the stage director and she was assisted by Paul James.

To further explain the scenes the following took place: Scene I—silver reflections—Mrs. Hicks uses Revlon's Revlon's new Glisin Shampoo. Glisin is especially formulated to brighten her naturally white hair. Mrs. Betty Thomas' hair glowed as it fell in beautiful, free-flowing waves. Glisin, again, is used to take away the yellow in her gray. And Sherry Horton is only 15% gray, but the Glisin really brought out the beauty of it all.

one side to fall in a cluster of curls with a side bang. This style brings out the soft, feminine features. Sonja Glenn's hair has been blown dry to give her more bounce, as she shows off her flipped hair-do (bridesmaid). Pam Mitchell is wearing Revlon's new Fabulaxer Perm. After being cut, it is styled back in layers (bridesmaid). Shelby Cheek has the new trend for the season, which is called lightning hair. It has the forward
