Charles Lyles leads fellowship mass choir in "With Joy We Water from the Well of Salvation."

Tommy McCray, Howard Daniels, Cynthia Ward, and Rita Johnson attended a class on "Effective Use of the Media" at Saturday's workshop.

Gospel Workshop Better 2nd Time

By Beverly McCarthy
Staff Writer

More than 800 people participated in the second Gospel Music Workshop sponsored by the Interdenominational Gospel Fellowship last weekend. The Interdenominational Gospel Fellowship is made up of church members from all over the state of North Carolina. The group's purpose is to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ through music. David L. Allen serves as founder and president of the organization. Minister Michael Foy serves as the group's vice president.

"We learned in our last workshop, that we weren't just gospel singers, but that we were indeed ministers of music, it's time that God and gospel singing got together again," commented Foy.

Festivities for the workshop began on Friday evening at 7:00 p.m., at Mount Calvary Holy Church on East 14th Street. Following registration, workshop classes were taught in voice, organ, effective use of the media, piano, evangelism, directing, and choir decorum and discipline. Classes were taught by James Kinchen, Valjean Griggs, Beverly McCarthy, Reverend Freddie Washington, Charles Lyles, Laura Wall, Anthony McGregor, Michael Foy, and Walter Jones.

The highlight of Friday's activities was a "Midnight Special" held at Ambassador Cathedral, located at 1500 English Street. Special guests at the Friday service were the Fellowship Mass Choir, Elder Ollie Brown, and the Jerusalem Mass Choir from Richmond, Virginia. At Friday's services, workshop participants and the audience learned to "Praise God At All Times," for He indeed is worthy. Master of ceremonies for the Midnight Special was Elder Larry L. Blackwell, pastor of Morton's Temple United Holy Church in Greensboro, North Carolina. Charles Lyles of the John Howard Caravan was also a guest on Friday. Lyles led the Fellowship Mass Choir in a soul stirring tune entitled, "With Joy We Draw Water."

Other guests for the weekend included Gabriel Hardeman of the Gabriel Hardeman Delegation, Peggy Britt and the Philharmonics, Reverend Freddie Washington, and many other ministers of music.

Hardeman was the star director of the mass choir during the weekend. Saturday's activities were held at Kimberly Park Holiness Church on Burton Street.

Valjean Griggs, gospel announcer for WAAA Radio Station, was Mistress of ceremonies for evening service.

Peggy Britt and the Philharmonics were special guests at the Saturday night musical. Britt's group rendered joyful tunes of the message of God's love as the capacity crowd joined in with shouts, clapping, and holy dances.
