

Community Calendar

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19

The North Carolina School of the Arts will present local keyboardist/composer/producer Jo Daniels lecturing on Reggae music. The seminar will begin at 3 p.m., and will be highlighted by an exhibit of the Winston-Salem based CINNAMON Reggae Band 9 p.m. that evening.

The J.C. Specials, directed by professor David Allen will be featured in a program highlighting Black Gospel Music as part of the "Blueprint for Survival" an Afro-American History Program sponsored by the East Winston Branch Library at 7 p.m. in the library auditorium.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20

The East Winston Noon Optimists club will hold registration for its Soccer League at the Patterson Avenue YMCA from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. A registration fee will be charged to cover the cost of accident insurance. Boys and girls, age six to 15 are urged to join.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22

The Forsyth County Public Library's Children's Outreach Program is sponsoring a series of film programs on Monday at Happy Hill Recreation Center at 3 p.m.; Tuesday at King Recreation Center at 3:30 p.m.; and Wednesday at Sprague Street Recreation Center at 3:30 p.m. This week's featured films are: "The World Turned Upsidedown," and "Luke Was There."

The Greater Winston Kiwanis Club will hold its weekly meeting at 12:30 p.m. in the Benton Convention Center.

As part of the observance of Black History Month, The YWCA will feature black art during its final week with exhibitions of artists and craftsmen beginning at 10 a.m. Monday's exhibition will be held at Rural Hall.

The YWCA will present "Security Careers" as part of their Teen Employment Workshop series. A panel consisting of a security guard and a city police officer will discuss training and education requirements from 4:30 to 6 p.m. There is no fee.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24

Deborah Thompson of the Forsyth County Department of Social Services will speak on "Single Parenthood." This program begins at 7 p.m. and the public is invited.

Bass Speaks At Livingstone

SALISBURY--Challenging personal goals and a commitment to hard work are characteristics that typify people who have achieved greatness, an executive of R.J. Reynolds Industries Inc. said in a Founder's Day speech at Livingstone College here today.

Marshall B. Bass, corporate director of personnel development for Reynolds Industries, was awarded an honorary doctorate degree by the college and was the keynote speaker at the Founder's Day ceremonies.

Noting that February is designated Black History Month, Bass said that great men and women of the past shared common traits.

"Like Livingstone College founder Dr. Joseph Price, each seems to have had a drive to reach a goal and to make their dreams become a reality. What also seems to be common is that truly successful people tend to make the lives of others around them better as a result of their success," he said.

"Each of us has the ability to establish a vision for our own future," Bass told the students. "The message I have to offer you here today is that your dreams and desires to do something and to be somebody are critically important. They are important because if you are determined, willing to work hard and are strong in your convictions, you will realize your dreams."

"Today, you are living the reality of your parents' dreams. Tomorrow, your children and grandchildren will be living the dreams you have today. I can think of few things more important in life to consider than this," Bass said.

Bass holds the degree of doctor of human letters from King Memorial College in Columbia, S.C., and an honorary doctorate degree from Saint Augustine's College in Raleigh.

A native of Goldsboro, he joined the Army during World War II and later graduated from the University of Maryland. He was Chief of Army Promotions at the Pentagon in Washington at the time of his retirement from the U.S. Army prior to joining R. J. Reynolds in 1968.

Bass, with a staff of 10 at R.J. Reynolds' World Headquarters in Winston-Salem, administers corporate-wide equal employment opportunity programs, develops and implements nondiscriminatory personnel policies and practices, and coordinates the company's minority business enterprise and federal contract compliance programs.

Marc Sylvia and Davenia McFadden in the North Carolina School of the Arts production of Agatha Christie's 'The Mousetrap'.

NCSA Presents Three Dramas

The School of Drama of the North Carolina School of the Arts will open its winter season with three plays in repertory beginning Friday, Feb. 26 in the Agnes de Mille Theatre. Richard Sheridan's "School for Scandal," Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap," and James Leonard's "The Diviners" comprise the repertory. "School for Scandal" opens on Feb. 26 and will also be performed on March 4 and March 6. A satirical comedy, the post-Restoration play explores gossip and intrigue in high society. Alan Rust, NCSA faculty member and actor for the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival, is the director of the play. He is also artistic director for the Monomy Theatre at Cape Cod. All performances of "School for Scandal" are at 8:15 p.m.

"The Mousetrap," which has been playing in London for 30 years, will be performed Feb. 27 and March 3 at 8:15 p.m., plus a 2 p.m. matinee on March 6. The plot features a group of eccentric characters, one of whom is a murderer, who become snow-bound in a boarding house. The play is guest-directed by James Dodding of England. Dodding directed the NCSA workshop production of "A Winter's Tale" last year.

"The Diviners" will be performed on Feb. 28 at 2 p.m. and March 2 and March 5 at 8:15 p.m. Leonard's provocative new play is set in rural Indiana during the 1930s and revolves around the relationship between a 17-year-old with a gift for "divining" water and a wandering preacher who has abandon-

See Page 18

Retire Rich.

$608,000
$1,000 a year for 35 years.

$1,216,000
$2,000 a year for 35 years.

$2,432,000
$4,000 a year for 35 years.

Now, we'd like for everyone in the neighborhood to retire well-off.

And our new IRA can help you do just that. The new tax laws allow even people with a retirement plan where they work to also have one where they bank.

And, you can now make much bigger deposits than before.

For example, a married couple, both age 30, can each put away up to $2,000 a year of earned income in their own IRA at NCNB. At age 65, before income tax, they'll have over $2.4 million.*

Or, looking at it another way, depending on your age, marital situation and income, just a little bit every week now means a very big payoff later on.

Just look over the chart, think over the amount that you can afford every year, and see how big your NCNB IRA can grow over the years.

Then come see us. And, the sooner, the better.

The New NCNB IRA.

*Based on a working couple's $4,000 (or single person's $2,000) annual deposit made on the first of each year, earning interest at an annual rate of 12%, compounded daily on a 365/360 basis. Working individuals can contribute as much as 100% of their salary or wages, up to a maximum of $2,000. Substantial interest penalty required for early withdrawal. All depositors insured to $100,000 by FDIC.

Sign Up Now.

The sooner you start the richer you get

AGE NOW	SINGLE PERSON AT 65*	WORKING COUPLE AT 65*
30	$1,216,000	$2,432,000
35	654,000	1,308,000
40	348,000	696,000
45	181,500	363,000
50	91,000	182,000
55	47,500	91,000