of points, the team that scores early should come out on top. Since the homefield advantage could be the deciding factor, Elizabeth City by three.

Last Saturday, Johnson C. Smith took a much-needed day off after being routed in its first two games of the season. The Golden Bulls' sagging program is in dire need of a win and Smith will go all out to beat Bowie State this week. Although Bowie's program is on the rise, the Bulldogs must still bring in more quality athletes to compete in the CIAA. Smith by six.

Hampton's strong defense will have its hand full when N.C. Central and Gerald Fraylon come to town. The Pirates, coming off their upset win against Union, will face a determined bunch of Eagles, whose pride and title hopes suffered severe blows in the thrashing by Winston-Salem State. It would be tough for anyone to stop Fraylon and the Eagles this week. Central by six.

After getting back on the winning track last week, Dan Antolik's St. Paul's team plays host to winless Virginia State, a hard-luck team so far in '84. The Trojans have played well, but have not come up with the big plays in crucial situations. On paper, the Trojans have better size and personnel. However, St. Paul's executes exceptionally well. St. Paul's by seven.

Livingstone's JoJo White has gone over 100 yards rushing in each of the Bears' games this season. And an above-average rushing game from him should be enough to lift Livingstone over Knoxville College, a Division III team. Bears by 14.

Fayetteville State tied Virginia Union in its opener two weeks ago and has had a lot of time to prepare for its game at Guilford. The Broncos, who are a little too physical for the Quakers, should win by 10.

Cleaning out the black college football notebook:

Grambling and Alcorn opened their seasons in New Orleans on a Sunday afternoon hoping to draw some fans from the World's Fair. It didn't work. Fewer than 14,000 attended the game in the Superdome....

Fayetteville State, a member of the CIAA, has announced the formation of the Bronco Sports Network. The network will produce a weekly TV show on Bronco football, and all of the Bronco's games will be broadcast on radio station WFSS, which boasts 100,000 watts of power....

The University of the District of Columbia played a Division I-AA football schedule last year and wished it didn't. The result: An 0-10 record. "That was something the former head coach had planned," says new UDC boss Bobby Frazier. "I think this year's schedule is more manageable."
