Groups plan Thanksgiving dinners

The Top Ladies of Distinction and University Women are planning a traditional home-cooked Thanksgiving dinner on Nov. 18 at 4 p.m. in the Parkview Bingo Parlor located in the Parkview Shopping Center.

All senior citizens, handicapped persons and those age 70 and above are invited to attend. For more information, call 721-1461, 725-8681 or 924-1066. Reservations must be made so that enough food will be prepared.

Working with the Top Ladies and University Women are Top Teens of America Inc. and Jack and Jill Inc.

Top Ladies of Distinction is attempting to enrich the lives of senior citizens. A wide variety of programs and projects are planned to help senior citizens gain more enjoyment from their elder years. Other objectives include supervision of the Top Teens of America programs, volunteer service projects and other community endeavors, enriching the status of women, sponsoring programs and projects to utilize time talents and skills more effectively, and implementing community beautification projects.

Top Ladies of Distinction Inc., a national humanitarian, educational and interracial organization, developed from a meeting held by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson shortly after she and President Lyndon Johnson moved into the White House.

The National Association of University Women of Winston-Salem makes many contributions to national and local leadership. The organization is affiliated with such national organizations as The American Council of Education, The National Education Association Civil Rights Leadership Council, The Urban League, The National Council of Negro Women, The League of Women for International Peace and Freedom, The National Conference of Citizenship and many other organizations for the betterment of human relations.

County Commissioner Mazie

Woodruff is chairperson of the senior citizen committee. Members of that committee are Alice Carter, Evelyn Phillips, Betty Hanes, Dorothy Ross, Modesta Earl, Glennie Miller Hall, Dorothy Graham Wheeler, Thelma E. Small and Theldora Scippio. Dr. Coallie Coaxum is the president of Top Ladies of Distinction and Thelma E. Small is the president of University Women and the organizer of Top Ladies of Distinction.

Wachovia Personal BankerSM

Only Wachovia assigns one person to help you manage your entire banking relationship.

At most banks you have to talk to a different person for each of your banking services. But at Wachovia you talk to your own Personal Banker, one person responsible for helping you with every banking service you may need.

Your Personal Banker has the knowledge and authority to handle your entire banking relationship - from opening your checking account to lending you money to helping you select high-yield savings plans. So when you have a question or problem, you have one person to turn to, without being shuffled from desk to desk.

And since we're giving every Personal Banker a private office, you can discuss your banking business in complete confidence. The more financial options that become available to you, the more you need one person who can help you understand them all - a Personal Banker at Wachovia.
