

Oglesby Roasted

Linwood Oglesby, right, director of Urban Arts, listens attentively as friends roast him last Friday night. The roast, hosted by the Tarheel Association of Storytellers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Manning, was in appreciation of Oglesby's contributions to the arts. Seated, left to right, are Dr. Virginia Newell, East Ward alderman; Ruth Julian, Urban Arts board member; and Oglesby's wife, Marcella (photo by James Parker).

rounding Glover's resignation.

"We're not going to discuss personnel matters with the press," said Clingman.

Whatever action is taken, Evans said, he plans to be here next week.

"I hope Mr. Clingman will respond to me as quickly as he can," Evans said. "I will be in Winston-Salem sometime next week with a task force to do an independent evaluation of the situation."

Two members of Greensboro's Hayes-Taylor YMCA, who waited outside as the Patterson board met in a closed executive session Thursday night, said they also plan to monitor the situation closely.

"As a member of COBY (Consortium of Black YMCAs), we look out for the welfare of the minority YMCAs and make sure they stay viable," said Tom Scott, executive director of the Hayes-Taylor Y.

Said Marqus Street, chairman of the Hayes-Taylor board: "We are over here to observe. We are also under a Metro set-up and it's important to come look at this situation firsthand. I know and respect Richard."

Meanwhile, the executive committee of the Patterson Avenue Branch YMCA voted during that meeting to draft a letter to Clingman "expressing concern about the process with which Mr. Glover was asked to resign," said committee member Dr. C.B. Hauser.

"I hope that this letter will put things in their proper perspective," said James Ford, one of Patterson's representatives to the Metro board who has said he feels Glover was forced to resign.

But, as of late last week, the letter was still being drafted, and Patterson board Chairman Hartsfield said it may be after Christmas before it is delivered.

"The letter is still under question," said Hartsfield. "We haven't sent it to anybody yet. Two or three copies have been drafted."

Hartsfield said he agrees with sending the letter to Clingman, but that he isn't sure what it will accomplish. In addition, Hartsfield said, he's not sure if any further action will be taken if the letter gets no response.

"This is the situation," said Hartsfield. "I wouldn't say anything that would be detrimental to the Patterson YMCA, Glover or the system. I'm trying to work within the system to get the job done."

Many Patterson board members said they feel they were not consulted in the decision concerning Glover's resignation.

"Many members of the board feel that they have not been kept fully informed about the true evaluation of Mr. Glover," one draft of the letter said. "They also believe that Mr. Glover has been misled about his performance."

Another draft said: "We feel that the resignation was obtained by questionable methods as December 6, 1984 was the first time that members of this board were informed that Mr. Glover had been placed on probation."

But Clingman said the Patterson board was not overlooked.

"I do not think they were sidestepped," Clingman said. "All the committees at the Metro level have Patterson representatives or have representatives from the Patterson community. So any communication problems were with the Patterson board."
