

(photo by James Parker)

Someone You Should Meet...

Name: Elizabeth G. Jones
Job Title: Data processor coordinator
Hometown: Winston-Salem
Describe yourself in one word: "Friendly"
Hobbies: Reading, writing and singing
Favorite Book: "The Bible"
Favorite Movie: "Roots"
Person admires most: My brother and sister-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Walker, and my pastor, the Rev. Samuel Cornelius

(If you are single, at least 18 years old, doing something positive in the community, employed and interested in appearing in this column, or if you know someone who meets these criteria, please send your name and daytime telephone number to: Someone You Should Meet, Winston-Salem Chronicle, P.O. Box 2151, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27102.)

NEWS DIGEST

National, state and local news briefs compiled by Greg Brown

Reagan supports modified civil rights bill

WASHINGTON -- President Reagan will support a new effort in Congress to partially reverse a controversial Supreme Court decision involving institutions which receive federal funding, a White House spokesman says.

Reagan supports legislation similar to the unsuccessful Civil Rights Act of 1984, but civil rights groups say the suggested language of the bill isn't broad enough because it applies only to educational institutions and not other institutions receiving federal funds, such as hospitals.

"The president supports efforts made during the last session of Congress to address the Supreme Court ruling," said assistant press secretary Anson Franklin.

In February 1984, the Supreme Court ruled the government couldn't cut off all federal financial aid to institutions if sex discrimination was found only in one particular program.

The Civil Rights Act of 1984, which would have negated the Supreme Court decision, passed the House overwhelmingly but died in the Senate after receiving only lukewarm support from the White House.

The bill would have covered entire institutions, organizations and programs receiving federal aid. Under language reportedly considered for the new administration version, the government could cut off funds only to educational institutions which discriminate on the basis of race, sex, age or physical handicap.

Kennedy inspects conditions in South Africa

SOWETO, South Africa -- Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was met by hundreds of cheering blacks singing hymns and holding candles of welcome earlier this week when he arrived to spend a night at the home of the black 1984 Nobel Peace laureate, Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu.

The Massachusetts senator toured a migrant workers' compound with 16 men to a bungalow last Saturday, later calling it "one of the most distressing and despairing visits that I have made ... in my lifetime."

The black migrant workers at the Nancefield Hostel, home to about 8,000 men, live in the hostel for 11 months of the year, separated from their families, who don't have permits to live in what is called "white" South Africa.

When Kennedy arrived for the visit at Johannesburg's Jan Smuts Airport, white police arrested seven black demonstrators chanting "Kennedy go home!"

The 40 black demonstrators, members of the Azanian People's Organization, exclude white opponents of apartheid from their own efforts to dismantle South Africa's strict system of racial separation.

A spokesman for the group said Kennedy "must be informed that the oppressed blacks of Azania are not his ticket to the presidency and that our enemy includes the imperialists of the United States." Azania is a black activist term for South Africa.

Kennedy was invited to the country by Bishop Tutu and the Rev. Allan Boesak, the white South African president of the World Council of Reformed Churches.

Telethon raises more than $10.1 million

LOS ANGELES -- The "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" raised more than $10.1 million in pledges for the nation's 42 historically black colleges supported by the United Negro College Fund.

Among the contributions received during the 12-hour telethon was a $100,000 challenge grant from Ambassador Walter Annenberg. The United Negro College Funds supports the 42 black schools and 45,000 students attending the schools.

"College Fund graduates are succeeding in the arts and sciences, in business and finance, in politics and civic service," said Christopher F. Edley, president of the fund. "The challenges faced by education in the last part of this century and into the next can only be met by the commitment and involvement of all Americans."

UNCF institutions have educated such alumni as diva Leontyne Price, singer Lionel Richie, Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young, New Orleans mayor Ernest Morial and Pulitzer Prize-winning authors Alice Walker and James Allen MacPherson.

The five-year-old "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" telethon is supported by Anheuser-Busch Companies Inc., Procter & Gamble, Kellogg's Frosted Flakes, the Campbell Soup Co., Polaroid Corp. and the Southland Corp.

Some of Hollywood's best-known entertainers, including Frank Sinatra, Bob Hope, Sammy Davis Jr., Charlton Heston, Bill Cosby, Donna Summer and Gregory Hines, appeared in last month's telethon.

Experiment with Christmas appliances

What new appliance did Santa bring to your home? Whether it is a microwave, a food processor or a pasta machine, you will have to do some experimenting to get full use from it.

Dr. Nadine Tope, foods and nutrition specialist, North Carolina State University, recommends owners of new appliances do the following:

- read the owner's manual carefully. The appliance is less likely to disappoint you if you do not expect the impossible.
- try the recipes which come with the appliance. Look for other appropriate recipes in cookbooks, magazines and newspapers.

- keep trying. Some of the first dishes will probably not turn out quite right, but don't give up. You will probably have to do some relearning.

- make sure the appliance is kept in a place where it is easily accessible. Many people have slow cookers stuck in the back of the top shelf in the cupboard. If something is out or easy to get to, it is more apt to be used.

- try to put the appliance to its full use. Many people learn to use an appliance for one task and then never explore its other capabilities.

Save some of the money you spend on energy by replacing filters in heating systems—and insulating doors and windows.

Crime Prevention

Attack victim calls police, then dies

The following "Crime Box Score" is designed to keep you abreast of criminal activity in your neighborhood during the past week and to help protect your family and property from crime.

Homicide

- 1800 block, Short Street
Police officers responded to a telephone call which reported a shooting. When they arrived, they found the caller was dead. One person has been arrested and charged with murder in connection with the case.

Armed robbery

- 800 block, Akron Drive
Officers responded to a reported shooting and found the body of the caller lying in a parking lot. Police say the death is still under investigation.

Storebreaking

- 4900 block, Old Rural Hall Road
Two men entered a convenience store, purchased the same two men reportedly returned and robbed the store, armed with shotguns. Some money, cigarettes and a radio were stolen. One of the robbers was described as a black man in his 30s, weighing between 150 and 160 pounds with a heavy mustache. The other robber was described as a black man in his late 40s, standing about six feet tall and weighing 185 pounds with short hair.

Housebreaking

- 1100 block, East 18th Street
A man told police he was cut with a piece of glass by a black female and robbed of his money by a black male. The victim was unable to describe his victims in any more detail.

Storebreaking

- 900 block, Patterson Avenue
Police responded to a call at the Crisis Control Center and apprehended a man as he ran out the center's rear door. The man was charged with storebreaking and larceny.

Storebreaking

- 400 block, Goler Court
A vacant apartment being remodeled was broken into and a belt sander, a tool bag and various tools were stolen.

- 2200 block, Glenn Avenue
Two garages were broken into, as were two vehicles parked inside them. Radios and cassette tapes were stolen.

Housebreaking

- 1900 Jackson Avenue
A church janitor coming to work heard glass breaking and saw a black male leaving through a window when he went to investigate. Nothing was reported stolen from the church.

Housebreaking

- 900 block, East 14th Street
Police responding to a break-in at a church saw someone jump from the building and run into the darkness, where they lost him. Nothing appeared to have been stolen from the church.

Housebreaking

- 1600 block, Wallace Street
Someone broke into Hill Hall on the campus of Winston-Salem State University, where they stole three computers, a projector, a microphone and a typewriter. Police said the computers and projector were recovered.

Housebreaking

- 1300 block, Maywood Street
A woman stopped a police officer and told him someone was breaking into her home. Police checked the residence and arrested a person they found inside the house.

Housebreaking

- 1200 block, East Second Street
A person kicked open a door, entered a woman's home and assaulted her. Warrants have been issued for the person, but had not been served early this week.

Housebreaking

- 3900 block, Tony Drive
A woman and her son were watching television when they heard someone knock on their side door. While the woman walked to the door, three persons forced the door open and came inside. The woman and her son were forced to lie on the kitchen floor while the intruders ransacked their house. The woman and her son then were locked in the basement. Nothing was reported stolen from the home.

SUBSCRIBE

to the

Winston-Salem Chronicle

TODAY

722-8624

NO PAYMENTS 'TIL MARCH

'84 CAVALIER
STK #4659
$5995
NO PAYMENT UNTIL MARCH 20, 1985 AT NO ADDITIONAL CHARGE. This Offer Good on All New Cars & Trucks.

'85 CAMARO
STK #1188
$9995
NO PAYMENT UNTIL MARCH 20, 1985 AT NO ADDITIONAL FINANCE CHARGE.

CHEVY C10 PICKUP
STK #4875
ONLY $6767
Plus Tax & License

'85 CHEVY S-10
STK #1380
ONLY $5959
Plus Tax & License. Subject to Prior Sale.

John Robinson

LOWEST PRICES OF THE YEAR!

Parks CHEVROLET

KERNERSVILLE — OFF I-40 AT ROUTE 66 EXIT — 993-2101, 724-7014
OPEN MON-FRI. 9:30-9:00, SAT. 9:30-5:30
ncd 3066

NO PAYMENT UNTIL MARCH 20, 1985 AT NO ADDITIONAL FINANCE CHARGE.

PARKS SAVES...

"The Best For last!"

This Offer Good on All New Cars & Trucks