THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT GREENSBORO SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

The School of Business and Economics at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro is seeking faculty candidates in the fields of accounting, economics, finance, information systems, marketing and legal environment. Ideally, candidates should possess a doctorate or other appropriate terminal degree and be interested in pursuing an active research and professional development program.

UNC-G is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. The School of Business and Economics has a student body of about 2,500, a faculty of 75, and is nationally accredited at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. Salaries are competitive, and excellent opportunities for research and participation in professional development programs are provided.

Persons interested in one of the positions should submit a letter of application and resume to: Dean Phillip Friedman, School of Business and Economics, UNC-G, Greensboro, NC 27412.

Because of our serious interest in attracting minority applicants, we invite readers to share information about these openings with colleagues who possess appropriate qualifications and who may be interested in becoming part of an exciting program and attractive community. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.
