

Proctor to speak at WSSU Founder's Day

Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, pastor of Abyssinian Baptist Church of New York City, will deliver the keynote address for Winston-Salem State University's 93rd Founder's Day program on Oct. 31.

The program, which is part of the Homecoming Week festivities, will begin at 10 a.m. in the Kenneth R. Williams Auditorium.

Proctor's remarks will focus on the pursuit of academic excellence.

A graduate of Virginia Union University, Proctor earned a master of divinity degree at Crozer Theological Seminary and a doctor of theology degree at Boston University.

From 1969 to 1984 he held the King Memorial Chair in the graduate school of education at Rutgers University. Upon his retirement he was named Martin Luther King Professor Emeritus and was awarded the Rutgers Medal for distinguished service. Following Proctor's address, the university will honor several former faculty/administrators as professors emeriti and present the Distinguished Alumnus Award to an outstanding graduate.

Dr. Samuel Proctor

The two newest pieces in the university's outdoor sculpture garden will also be dedicated during the program.

Showcase

activities planned for the North Carolina Theatre Conference's annual convention from Oct. 31 to Nov. 3.

All black theatres in North Carolina will be attending the convention and participating in the activities. The showcase is expected to bring high visibility to participating theatre companies and to black theatre in general.

Interested theatre companies should contact Larry Leon Hamlin at 723-7907 to reserve a time slot and for more information.

WTOB to sponsor housing seminar

WTOB will sponsor a housing management seminar from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Oct. 25 at the Winston Lake Family YMCA, 901 Waterworks Road.

Bob Woodson, president of the National Center for Neighborhood Enterprise and chairman of the Council for a Black Economic Agenda, will be the featured speaker. The discussion will deal with a new solution for low-income housing and housing management.

The concept encourages self-reliance and independence from the residents as well as from the government.

The seminar will begin with brunch at Reynolds cafeteria, 741 Highland Ave., at 9:30 a.m. The seminar is free to the public; lunch will be available for $3.

FOLLOW THE SCENT TREND

Because our fragrance says so much for us and about us, we want to select those that keep our image both current and stylish. Knowing the latest trends can guide us in choosing the right ones.

This winter, one of the most important trends is the preference for sumptuous, Oriental-inspired fragrances, which has been spurred by the rich elegance of fashions. These can be heady and intriguing fragrances. Often, though, they are too overstated to wear comfortably for daytime activities. But there are alternatives.

A "semi-Oriental" scent can be just as opulent without being overbearing. Avon's new Imari fragrance, for example, offers the best of two worlds, balancing Eastern beauty and mystery with sophisticated florals of European identity.

Reflective of the opulent reds, purples and jet blacks of an Oriental fantasy, Imari is in complete step with the direction fashion is taking this fall—rich in color, and unmistakably luxurious in its scent.

Imari's exquisite burgundy flask is inspired by the high-gloss lacquered boxes of the Far East, and makes an elegant, refined gift. "It fits a woman's dreams," says Joyce Roche, Avon Fragrance Marketing Director. "Very sensual, elegant, modern, and fashion-conscious—for the woman who recognizes high-quality."

Only your Avon Representative can bring you Imari. If you don't have one, call 800-858-8000.
