Diggs named Wachovia vice president

Brenda B. Diggs has been elected vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Diggs was recently named manager of the Winston-Salem Main Office, located in the lobby of the Wachovia Building.

Mrs. Diggs joined Wachovia in 1968 on a part-time basis. She moved into retail banking in 1971 and has been a teller, personal banker and manager of the Hanes Mall and Reynolda offices. From 1982 until this fall, she served as an executive personal banker in the main office.

A Winston-Salem native, Mrs. Diggs is the daughter of Juanita

E. Crouch. She is a graduate of Winsalm College and plans to complete a bachelor's degree from High Point College this month.

Mrs. Diggs served as day chairman for education of Leadership Winston-Salem earlier this year. She is on the boards of United Way and the Girls' Club.

Mrs. Diggs is married to James Diggs; they have a son and a daughter.

Alvin L. Atkinson and Ward B. Miller have received new appointments at Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.

Atkinson has been named manager of the Country Club office. He joined Wachovia in 1981 following his graduation from Davidson College.

Atkinson has served as a personal banker and branch operations manager at Wachovia's Clemmons office since 1983. He is a native of Brunswick, Ga.

Miller has joined the Executive Personal Banker Unit at the main office in Winston-Salem. He has been with Wachovia since 1976 and was previously manager of the Country Club office.

A native of Charleston, S.C., Miller is a graduate of the College of Charleston.

Winston-Salem Bible College hosts anniversary staff reunion

In observance of Winston-Salem Bible College's 35th anniversary, the school recently hosted a staff reunion.

Staff members, former staff members and alumni gathered on the campus to celebrate the anniversary.

Programs were held on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18 and 19. A worship service concluded the activities on Sunday morning, Oct. 20, at Carver Road Christian Church.

Speakers for the event included former faculty and staff members of the College. Among the speakers were Leland Tyrrell, Aubrey Payne, Owen Crouch, John Phelps, Michael Baker, Clarence Shepard, Arline Mahannah and Fred Patterson.

Music was provided by Charles

Benford and alumni students Mattie Walker, Olga Gordon, Kay Simpson and Pauline Moore.

Special recognition was given to Dr. William E. Johnson, who has served with the college since 1956.

Winston-Salem Bible College was organized in 1945 as "Christian Institute" by the late evangelist Dr. R.L. Peters. In 1950 the institute was reorganized as Winston-Salem Bible College under the leadership of Dr. Leland Tyrrell. In 1976 it moved to Northampton Drive; the current president, Donald Forrester, assumed his post in 1979.

National Bankers honor R.J. Reynolds

The National Bankers Association has presented its 1985 Corporate Award to R.J. Reynolds Industries in recognition of the company's minority banking program.

Pedro Aguirre, president of the association, says, "Each year we present this award to a corporation that has demonstrated a strong commitment to minority banks over a sustained period of time. This award honors RJR's overall support of minority communities, but particularly its involvement with minority banks." As part of its minority enterprise program, Reynolds Industries and its subsidiaries have established lines of credit totaling $45 million at more than 50 banks owned by minorities and women.

The award was presented at the association's annual convention in Detroit. The National Bankers Association is an advocate for the minority banking industry."

by a $26,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Also to be dedicated during Founder's Day is a 14-foot wood sculpture by Roberto Bertoia, a professor at Cornell University.

Both pieces were selected in WSSU's second national sculpture competition.

One of the purposes of the garden is to introduce WSSU students to contemporary sculpture.
