

Kennedy and Lewis pegged for local alumni honors

The Winston-Salem chapter of the Howard University Alumni Association will hold its annual Charter Day dinner Sunday, March 9, at 4 p.m. at the Student Union at Winston-Salem State University.

Special honorees at the dinner will be Annie Brown Kennedy and Dr. Lillian Burwell Lewis.

Dr. Lewis, who was born in Meridian, Miss., received a master's degree from Howard University in 1931 and a Ph.D. in 1934 from the University of Chicago.

She has taught at South Carolina State University in Orangeburg, S.C., Morgan State University in Baltimore and Tillotson University in Austin, Texas.

She was elected to the Forsyth County School Board and is a member of the Book Club of Today, the Moles and the American Association of University Women.

The association is honoring Dr. Lewis for her contributions in the fields of education, politics and community service, and for her contributions to the local alumni program.

Born in Atlanta, Mrs. Kennedy attended undergraduate school at Spelman College and graduated from the law school at Howard University in 1951.

She is a partner in the law firm of Kennedy, Kennedy, Kennedy and Kennedy with her husband and two of her sons.

She is a member of the North Carolina and Georgia state bar associations.

Mrs. Kennedy was appointed to the state House of Representatives in 1979 and was elected to serve in 1982.

She is a member of numerous organizations, including the local board of directors for the Southern National Bank, and she is a trustee for First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Kennedy is being honored for her accomplishments in the fields of law, politics and community service, and for her contributions to the local alumni organization.

The dinner is held each year in observance of the founding of Howard University in Washington.
