intimidated. Upon her vindication, she declared: "I will continue to work hard for my people. This case has given me an even greater desire to do more since there was so much harassment." The battle for racial justice under the law continues, despite the increased assaults by "legal" and vigilante racists to push black Americans backward to Jim Crow.

Former North Ward Alderman Larry D. Little, who organized the Darryl Hunt Defense Committee, said District Attorney Donald K. Tisdale lacks credibility as well.

As for the Bryson case, police believe Mrs. Bryson was killed after arriving home during a burglary. They said $350 was missing from the house.

In May, police detectives said they had exhausted all of their leads.

Although Gov. Jim Martin signed a proclamation offering a $5,000 reward for information in the case, police say information leading the Drayton's indictment was not a result of the reward offer.

They also refused to say what evidence they have against Drayton.

Others may be involved in the Mrs. Bryson's murder, Little said. "The people involved in the heinous murder should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The district attorney and the police would not say if Drayton had talked to them about Mrs. Bryson's murder.
