Something for everyone

By CHERYL WILLIAMS
Chronicle Staff Writer

There is something for everyone on this year's fall fashion scene.

Big, bulky, loose, body-hugging and colorful clothes will all be characteristic of the season.

After a summer of jeans, jams, T-shirts, tank tops, skimpy tops and dresses with snug bodices and full skirts, this fall promises to be just as much fun.

This year's colors and shapes will provide an easy transition into winter.

Sweater dressing will be big with women this fall. As the days turn cooler, sweaters of varying lengths will be seen paired with full and straight skirts and with jeans.

Kathleen Jamison, sportswear manager at Montaldo's on Stratford Road, says that knitted skirts and pants will also be popular this fall.

Clothes for women will have an overall clean and uncomplicated look, Mrs. Jamison says.

"There is a softer line than in the past," she says. "There are still jackets and shoulder pads, but the jackets are a little more nipped in and closer to the body."

The fall colors -- such as navy, charcoal and black -- will be offset with red or other bright colors this fall, she says.

The emphasis on accessories this fall will be on gold and silver jewelry, Mrs. Jamison says.

Mrs. Jamison also says that she is seeing a change in the fall activewear, such as jeans. "The activewear is a little dressier and more finished," she says.

LaShanda Millner, owner of LaShanda's Boutique in Tobacco Square, says dresses this fall will be in a combination of colors, such as blue and black and black and yellow.

Costume jewelry will be popular, and wide belts of leather or cloth will be worn to comple-
