Many of today's highly sophisticated appliances feature micro-computer components that help them perform better, faster and more efficiently.

These are some of the features found in today's appliances that have electronic controls:

Easy Operation: These appliances often require only a single touch. Many also have pre-set cycles to help insure good results, even from the inexperienced users.

They have built-in safeguards. This prevents combinations of cycles or options that are not designed to work together.

Some appliances have built-in diagnostic programs that help technicians to locate the problem and correct it.

Some of these appliances have through light and sound signals.

These automatic washers with electronic controls offer programmed cycles that give the wash time, water temperature, agitation rates and spin speeds needed for different kinds of wash loads.

Some electronic control dishwashers can be electronically locked to prevent unwanted operation.

Present day consumers can expect to pay more for these features. Some consumers may need a little extra time to learn to operate these highly sophisticated appliances to get the maximum benefits from the money invested in the appliances.

One of the leading corporations is offering:

Four new Clean Touch series undercounter dishwashers with an undercounter dishwashers that offer electronic look consoles that are smooth and easy to clean.

Homemakers can chose a seven cycle option combination or a three cycle option combination.

If you are worried about leaving your heating element on after cooking and rushing off to work, you might be pleased to know that area churches.

John R. Smith, a member of United Metropolitan Baptist Church, said that he volunteers at the center as an extension of the services provided by his church. United Metropolitan is one of several East Winston area churches which participate in day shelter programs for the homeless during the winter months. Smith said he chose to answer the call for volunteers at Bethesda Center because "they needed somebody and I had free time. The center does a lot of good so I didn't mind helping out."

Smith said also that he has learned from his volunteer experiences at Bethesda.

"I didn't know that there were that many or that their situations were that bad," he said. "Most of them are really desperate. I think the center is a very worthy cause and I feel that if other people have the time they could volunteer to help at the center."

Ms. Chaffee said that the center's funding is scheduled to run out in November and that she also will be seeking ways of financing the center. She said that while funds are essential, the help of volunteers is equally important.

"We haven't really been able to get out to a lot of churches. If we could schedule times to come to churches and talk to them, I think we could show them the kinds of things that Bethesda Center does for homeless people," she said. "I know we could get more volunteers to come in. We need a whole lot more than we have now so that we can help our homeless individuals."

some stoves feature individual indicator lights for each heating element, it shows at a glance if the surface units are left on.

Some of the new designer style refrigerators have the following

- features:
- Easy to clean plastic interior liner.
- Dairy compartment with see through cover that stays up when lifted, freeing both of the users

- hands.
- Four adjustable door shelves -two size to hold full half gallon containers.
- Dual deep crispers offer nearly 100 percent more storage than

- previous models.
- Some of the new models of refrigerators have meat pans with jet-cold temperature designed especially for meat, because it stores meat at a temperature lower than

- the rest of the refrigerator.
- Four freezer slide-out-baskets provide quick and very easy access to food items and to freezer efficiency.
