Mack-McClain

Lenora Mack and William Alexander McClain were married Saturday, Jan. 21, at 4 p.m. at New Faith Chapel Holiness Church.

Dr. Lawrence S. Tate officiated. The bride is the daughter of Hayzle L. Mack and Minister Lee Faye Mack of Winston-Salem.

The groom is the son of Alexander H. McClain of Winston-Salem.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Serving as maid of honor was Clara Mae Mack of Winston-Salem.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dexter Funderburk of Norfolk, Va., Mrs./Clyde Lindsey of Winston-Salem, Wilhelmena McClain of Greensboro, Belita Martin of Winston-Salem.

Best man was David Joseph Mechem of Albemarle.

Ushers were Geoffrey T. Gaede, Ronald Evans of Winston-Salem and Andrew Yarborough of Randleman.

The bride is a graduate of Winston-Salem State University and is employed by Sara Lee Hosiery-Leggs.

Lenora Mack McClain

The groom is a graduate of Greensboro College and Brevard Junior College. He is president/owner of Mr. Bill's Productions.

The couple will live in Winston-Salem.

WSSU to hold Eighth Annual Teachers' Fair

Winston-Salem State University's Eighth Annual Teachers' Fair will be held Wednesday, Feb. 1, from 12:45 to 5 p.m. in the C.E. Gaines Center on campus. Elon College, Fayetteville State University, Davidson College, Guilford College, High Point College, Livingstone College, Salem College and Wake Forest University will also participate in the fair.

Approximately 200 school systems from around the country are scheduled to be represented. The event is co-sponsored by the WSSU Career Services Department and the Department of Education.

The Teachers' Fair is designed to bring together senior education majors and school systems with anticipated vacancies for the coming year. System representatives will conduct interviews as well as share information about their schools.

Education expert to speak at Moore PTA

On Feb. 2 to 3, the staff and Parent Teacher Association of Moore Elementary Alternative School will host Dr. Madeline C. Hunter, one of the country's leading educational consultants.

Hunter is a leading authority on effective teacher training whose innovative ideas were used as a foundation to begin Moore School. She will speak to Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School-system principals and teachers and Moore School parents during the two-day seminar. Topics will include effective teaching, classroom management techniques, cooperative learning, reinforcement theory and integrated learning.

Hunter currently is a professor at the Graduate School of Education at UCLA. She is the author of 11 books and 300 journal articles. Her most recent book is titled, "Coaching and Supervising Teachers." She also wrote "Aiding in Education," which was prompted by her study of Geneva Brown's work at Moore School using aides in the classroom.

Brown has been the school's principal since its inception in 1971.

Moore Alternative School is the school system's first complete, multi-aged, open-concept elementary school. Its major focuses, in addition to the basic state-mandated curriculum in reading and math, are on aesthetic and culturally enriching activities, individualized instruction, teaching to independence and helping children develop more positive self-concepts.

Christmas project leads to year-long commitment for Alpha Kappa Alphas

Each year Phi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc. provides Christmas cheer for the residents of Turner's Rest Home and Bobbitt's Family Care Home through gift-giving and social activities.

However, the chapter and the residents were so uplifted by their sharing this past season that the local AKAs decided to commit themselves to the Adopt-A-Senior program so that the sharing can continue year round.

The commitment involves visiting the residents regularly to read, lend a smile or helping hand and remembering special occasions such as birthdays that often go unnoticed.

Other chapter members have also targeted senior citizens who live independently who could benefit from a similar kind of helping hand and cheer.

Additionally, 25 blankets were donated to Crisis Control Ministries to top off the sharing of Christmas '88.

Sorority members feel that such an extension of Christmas '88 allows Alpha Kappa Alpha to continue to be of service to mankind in the Winston-Salem community.

W-S Urban League recognized for helping older adults return to work

The Winston-Salem Urban League has received national recognition for its successful record of assisting older adults return to work.

Cleo Solomon, director of Seniors in Community Service Program, was presented the award at a recent conference in New Orleans. The program consistently has exceeded annual objectives for placement of older adults in meaningful employment for the past six years.

Seniors in Community Service Program provides internships to income-eligible older adults (ages 55 and over) in community-based agencies. In addition to work experience and supplemental income, participants also receive counseling, employability training and other support services that will enhance their ability to secure permanent jobs and return to the workforce.

Winston-Salem is one of 23 Urban League affiliates currently operating this program which is funded through the Department of Labor under Title V and subgranted by National Urban League.

Currently the SCSP program has positions available for income eligible adults 55 and over. Interested persons may call 725-5614 or come by between 8:30 and 5 daily.

Send Your Valentine The Very Best

Loving Hallmark Valentines...the very best way to tell someone special you care on Tuesday, Feb. 14.

Pharmacy Department

A word about drug interactions, allergies, and possible side effects.

Not all drugs react well with your body. Some have side effects. Others trigger allergies, and some drugs when taken together create dangerous interactions. With "CHRIS", Crown's Health Record Information System, we maintain information on thousands of drugs as well as complete records on each prescription you have filled with us. When we fill any prescription for you, it's checked against your record for possible side effects, interactions and allergies. Why take chances? Bring your next prescription to us. Let "CHRIS", our pharmacy computer, give you peace of mind.
