

Angelou to keynote arts conference at Radford

Writer Maya Angelou will deliver the keynote address at a Black Arts in America Conference March 30 to April 1 at Radford University.

Ms. Angelou, Radford's 1989-90 distinguished visiting professor, is one of seven artists who will lecture and lead workshops in the conference. Titled, "A Con/Fusion of Light: Conflict and Unification in Black Literature, Language and Self," the conference will examine the state of black arts in America.

Ms. Angelou will discuss the blackening of America at a dinner Friday, March 30, at 6 p.m. in Muse Banquet Hall. A poet, playwright, bestselling author, actress, director and civil rights activist, Ms. Angelou has written 10 books, including "I Know Why the Caged

11th District Order of Eastern Star holds first family meeting at Masonic Temple

The 11th District Order of Eastern Star, PHA Jurisdiction of North Carolina held its first family meeting at the Masonic Temple Saturday, Jan. 20. The meeting was hosted by Ricky Wilson, grand district deputy, and seven local chapters.

Local chapters serving as hosts were Beauty of West #36, Sisters of Bivouac #530, Sisters of James H. Young Memorial, Meridian Chapter #308, Queens of Olympics Chapter, Rose McCloud Chapter #608 and Pride of Yadkinville Chapter #612.

Mrs. Wilson said that she was overwhelmed with the attendance of more than 130 officers and members.

Albert Wardlow, grand trustee brother, and Lula Jenkins, grand foreign corresponding secretary, were on hand to represent the grand officers.

Ricky Wilson

The 11th district is composed of 14 chapters, located in Statesville, Salisbury, Harmony, Mooresville, Advance, Tobaccoville, Walkertown, Mocksville and Winston-Salem.

In her address, Mrs. Wilson discussed the importance of maintaining a family-like atmosphere.

"Good family relations are no accident. They must always be achieved through the conscious efforts of those who share it," said Mrs. Wilson. "So it is with our Order of Eastern Star family. Our organization has been characterized by the blending of many minds and voices into one composite spirit and working force. This is the essence of what the Order of Eastern Star is all about and the prelude to our success."

Mrs. Wilson also encouraged the organization's members to work past barriers in order to bring more unity.

"Where there are conflicts of personalities, where there is more concentration on self than the organization, there must be a reordering of priorities," she said. "Where there are any impediments to progress they must be addressed openly and objectively. Where there are breakdowns in communications, a new and better network must be found."

The meeting's agenda included business and planning sessions as well as a series of workshops.
