

port from their linebacker positions.

On offense, all-league tackle Charles Stuckey, along with Reinard McGruder are key returnees who will pave the way for fullback Jerold Dalton, while Bernard Hitson Dennis Davis and Jerold Boyd will fight it out for playing time at the tailback slot.

Rondal Griffin is the incumbent at quarterback. However, he is likely get a stiff challenge from sophomores Tyrone Morgan and Keith Jones.

Clark/Atlanta University

A 4-6 season isn't considered very good. But when your program hasn't won more than three games in many moons, it's not so bad at all. That's the story for coach Willie Hunter's Panthers, who pulled off a few surprises in '90.

But Hunter, who was one of Atlanta's winningest prep coaches before he joined the Panthers, could be hard pressed to reach the .500 mark this season. For starters, three key performers are missing. Offensively, quarterback Marlow Roberson and all-purpose star Millard Hamilton accounted for over 3,000 yards and 27 TDs last year. Defensively, noseman Richard Sibert was the soul of that unit as one of the SIAC's leading hit men.

If replacements can be found for those three, Clark/Atlanta will be on track to continue its trek back to the upper echelon of the league.

Center Tommy Buckson (6-1, 279) is the top returning offensive player. Wide receiver Felix Lewis (38 catches, 470 yards) should be more of a force in '91 now that Hamilton is gone.

The QB position is likely to be taken over by JUCO transfer Charles Parks, a crafty runner, who impressed Hunter in workouts. Jackie Smith could also vie for playing time before the season is over.

On defense, the hub is the secondary, led by four sophomores who saw plenty of action as rookies last season. Cornerback Kareem Bacon, was all-league in '90 and is the best of the bunch. But Schredrick Austin, Jamie Freeman and Micheal Neal and Terry Beckham are all very reliable performers.

Morehouse College

First-year coach Craig Cason is going to have his hands full in trying to keep the Maroon Tigers afloat this season. But he does have a few gems among the group who will be looked to for leadership.

Patrick Gamble returns as M-House's top rushing threat and David Boone is a stand-out at wide receiver. On defense, free safety Jason Bryant is the prime performer in the secondary and Carleton Moore anchors the linebacking corps.

Miles College

From a mental standpoint, the Bears have no option other than to be optimistic after winning just one of 10 games last year. MC has a new coach in Edward Colvin, whose major goal is to re-establish a winning frame of mind.

More than a few slots are up for grabs as the season approaches. On offense, Derrick Brown and Ernest Kelly battle for the QB job, while Marcus Lomax and Paul Caldwell duel for the starting running back job. Dwight Christian is the top returnee at tight end.

Defensively, cornermen Roger Chestang and Jerome Jones are the top performers.
