

Mayor Wood presents Clark Brown with a Key to the City.

Brown received Key to the City

The former chairman of the Winston-Salem Housing Authority Board has been awarded a key to the city by Winston-Salem Mayor Martha Wood.

Wood presented the key to Clark Brown during the Community Action Group meeting Friday evening for his commitment and service to the community.

"I think that if there's anyone in this city who has earned a key to it, it is Clark Brown," said Wood.

Brown, who retired from the Housing Authority Board last year, was modest in accepting the key, a gift which came as a surprise to him. "Housing has been very, very close to me. My first wish and hope would be that the people would enjoy where they resided as home," said Brown. "This is a great community, and we have to work, we have to give it our all."

Brown, himself, has given his all to this community over the last two decades. In addition to being chairman of the Housing Authority Board for two terms, Brown also served as Commissioner of the City Recreation Department for over 20 years, and chairman of the Civilian Civic Defense for four years.

"I've found myself in the Salvation Army, the American Red Cross, whatever it takes to make this a better community is what I've wanted to do," he said. "And the Mayor's been so gracious and so kind to inspire me to do even greater. And I'm going to work even harder for this community."

Dr. Willie Pearson Jr.

WFU professor named to National Committee

Dr. Willie Pearson Jr., Wake Forest University sociology professor, has been appointed to the Science, Mathematics and Engineering Education Committee of the National Honorary Scientific Research Society, Sigma Xi.

The committee charts the status of science, mathematics and engineering education and makes recommendations for its improvement. The committee also makes efforts to influence federal policy that impacts science and engineering education.
