Chi Chi chapters to sponsor Gospel Fest

The Chi Chi and Chi Chi Beta chapters of Chi Eta Phi Nursing Sorority, Inc. will sponsor a Gospel Fest and Performing Arts Program on Saturday, April 25 at the Arts Council Theatre on Coliseum Drive from 7-10 p.m. The price is $7 for adults and $3 for children 12 years and under.

The program will feature the Rev. John Heath and Carlotta Samuels of the city. Many other vocalists and performers will appear on the program. Soror Gloria Miller is in charge of the program. Other sorors working on the program include Willa Abbott, Annie Alexander, Phyllis Brown, Carol Dearman, Velma Fields, Geneva

Herbert, Mickey McCullough and Randon Pender. Beta members include Cathy Edwards and Shirley Hughes.

Proceeds from the event will help to sponsor one of the sorority's national projects, scholarships for nursing students on the national and local level. Angela Williams and Hazel McCoy, both sorors in Chi Chi Beta chapter at Winston-Salem State University, were awarded scholarships in 1991.

The Chi Chi chapter was organized in Winston-Salem in 1978 at Emmanuel Baptist Church. The sorority is an organization of registered nurses and student nurses. Soror Mickey McCullough is the Basileus. The Chi Chi Beta chapter was chartered in 1991 at Winston-Salem State University. Soror Angela Williams is Basileus.

The Chi Chi organization is an international sorority with diverse cultural and educational backgrounds. The membership totals more than 3,000 in graduate and undergraduate chapters throughout the United States, West Africa, and the Virgin Islands.

The Chi Chi chapter of Chi Eta Phi Nursing Society inducted seven new members into the organization on March 7. The new members are Eula Smith, Jeanette Pouncey, Elizabeth Newton, Janice Coleman, Latanya Alexander-Nazien, Carolyn Wright, and Zoann Fulp.

The elected Chi Chi officers are: Mickey McCullough, basileus; Willa Abbott, anti-basileus; Randon Pender, grammateus; Geneva Herbert, epistoleus; and Annie Alexander, tamias.

Friends of the Library seeking new members

The Friends of the Library at Winston-Salem State University is sponsoring its annual membership drive through May 31 to elicit financial support for O'Kelly Library.

Goals for the 1992 membership drive are to secure titles in African-American studies, education and allied health.

The organization, established in 1984, is also accepting nominations for the executive board for 1992-94.

Alumni, librarians and friends of Winston-Salem State, should send a resume no later than May 20 to:

Dr. Mae Rodney, director of library services, Winston-Salem State University, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27110.

Volunteers are also needed to assist with mailings and other activities, including contributions to the annual book sale.

For more information, call Dr. Rodney at 750-2440.

A. Philip Randolph Institute to honor Dr. Scales with Community Service Award

On Saturday, May 2, the A. Philip Randolph Institute, Winston-Salem Chapter, will hold its annual Community Service Award Banquet to be held at the Holiday Inn-North, 3050 University Parkway.

This year's honoree is Dr. Manderline Scales, special assistant to Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs at Winston-Salem State University. Dr. Scales has taught four levels of social sciences, French, Spanish, geography, mathematics, and physical education.

She is also past national president of the National Women of Achievement. She has served on numerous university committees, chaired many city and state commissions and proved her dedication and love for education, her community, her church, and her students.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Norman Hill, national president of the A. Philip Randolph Institute.

RJR funding scholarships for youth

Good news for high school seniors who are youth members of the Winston-Salem branch of the NAACP.

They can now apply for college scholarships funded by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

Reynolds Tobacco, working with the local NAACP, will fund three $500 scholarships to be awarded June 15th. The application deadline is May 29th.

Ben Ruffin, vice president of corporate affairs for Reynolds Tobacco, said the company created the scholarship program through proceeds from employee ticket sales for the annual NAACP banquet this month.

"We have a number of scholarship programs," Ruffin said. "But what makes this one so special is that it's being provided through the generosity of Reynolds Tobacco employees."

High school seniors with a grade point average of 2.5 or better may apply for the scholarships. They should be planning to enroll this year as a full-time student at a two- or four-year accredited college or university.

Each scholarship will be paid directly to the school when student enrollment is verified.

Scholarship applicants must also be a youth member of the Winston-Salem branch of the NAACP. An NAACP youth membership application, available at the NAACP office, may be submitted along with the scholarship application.

Scholarship application forms can be obtained through high school guidance counselors or at the NAACP office at the Winston Mutual Building, 1125 East Fifth Street in Winston-Salem.
