Deltas hold awards ceremony

The Salute to Delta Great Teachers featured 75 active and retired teachers who were selected from 500 applicants. Cecily Tyson was made an honorary member of Delta during the convention.

The Mary Terrel Award was presented to Alexis Herman, who is deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee and chief executive officer of the Democratic Convention.

The Patricia Roberts Harris Award was presented to Eleanor Holmes Norton, the first woman to chair the Equal Employment Commission. She served during the Carter administration from 1977 to 1981. She is widely known as a constitutional civil rights lawyer.

The second recipient of the Harris Award was Maxine Waters, a member of the California assembly. The Distinguished Professor Endowed Chair Award was presented to Winston-Salem State University for the development of a new curriculum for the master's degree, which will focus on computer graphics, software, engineering, and data base management. Dr. Cleon Thompson, chancellor of Winston-Salem State, accepted the award for the university. Other awards presented were the Ethel Payne Award for excellence in journalism, the Delta Female Business Executive Award, and the National President's Leadership Award.
