Mount Zion closes Men's Day campaign

For some time now, echoes from the hymn "Rise Up O Men of God" have been heard around Mount Zion Baptist Church. The reason for this affirmation will become clear when four programs take place at the church this weekend.

The schedule of events includes a family fashion show, a brotherhood breakfast, regular worship services, and a salute to the African-American male.

According to church public relations, these activities will mark the close of the annual Men's Day campaign benefiting the building fund of the church.

The gala weekend begins with a family fashion show in the File-Goodwin Life Enrichment Center at 1 p.m. Saturday.

In addition to making fashion statements in the outfits of their choice, the male models and their families will reflect "family values" from a black perspective.

In a light-hearted reference to the women's participation in the men's fashion show, one of the coordinators said, "we did not want to come off as totally chauvinistic in putting this program together." It was a comment not lost on Jeanette T. Lewis and Delores Graham who agreed to help Robert Leath and Leroy Anderson organize the fashion show.

Models include: Robert Calloway, Keith Lighty, Lawrence Murray, James Franklin, William Terry, Darryl Ray, Rodney Cooper, and Dr. S.T. Churn.

On Sunday a continental breakfast and a visit from United States Congressional candidate, Mel Watt, will set the tone for Mount Zion laymen and friends. Watt is a candidate for the 12th Congressional District and will be the guest of honor at the pre-church school fellowship. Persons interested in attending should contact Clark Gaither at 722-2325.

The chaplain of Shaw University, the Rev. Darryl Robinson, will deliver the message during the regular morning worship hour. Representatives from the laity of the church and other members of the clergy will be co-celebrants with Chaplain Robinson during the 11 a.m. worship.

At 3:30 p.m. the sponsoring committee will host "A Gathering of Men." This feature will showcase the dramatic and musical talents of local African-American males. The program format will include writings, speeches, and music representative of the black male.

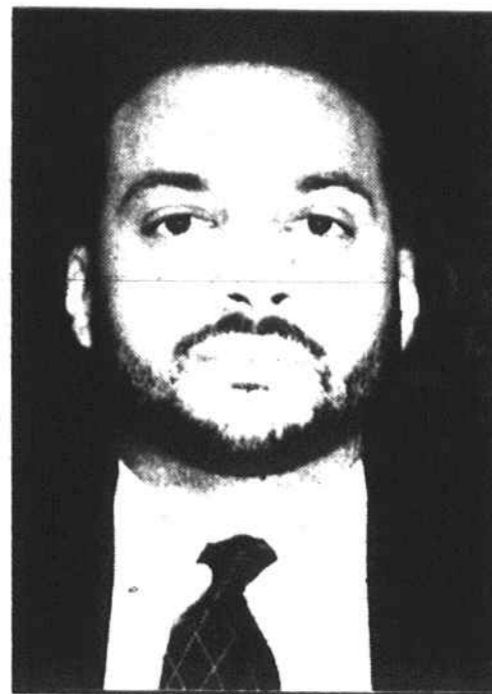

"We want this to be a celebration of ourselves and a salute to black men in all walks of life," stated the program chairman, H.L. Shaw.

Some of the program participants in "A Gathering of Men" will include Mayor Pro Temp Vivian H. Burke, Alderman Larry Womble, Emory Jones, Douglas Summers, Alvin Damon, Tim Jackson, Ron Hughes, Carl Cloud, Rudy Anderson, Alvin Atkinson, and Shederick Adams.

Also appearing will be James E. Stowe, James Funches, Clayton Moore, Kenneth Simmington, Nat Irvin, George Johnson Jr., and Robert Young. Co-chairmen Al Jabbar and Clark Gaither will also be featured participants.

A special feature of the afternoon program will be an opportunity for the audience to name local black males who have risen to the occasion in their time. The idea for this feature resulted from talks with Dr. William Rice, a local historian.

All Men's Day activities at Mount Zion are open to the public. Dr. Serenus T. Church is the pastor of the church fellowship at 950 File Street.

Chaplain Darryl Robinson of Shaw University will deliver the 11 a.m. sermon.

12th Congressional District candidate Mel Watt will attend the continental breakfast.
